Kingston Vandals Still on Spree

KINGSTON Vandals traveled through this city during the night and virtually peppered plate glass windows of 39 business establishments with lead pellets causing damage that would soar into thousands of dollars if the glass is replaced.

The wave of malicious acts came in the wake of other incidents that probably involved the same weapon used last night—possibly high powered air guns.

Police pressed an intensive inquiry today seeking some clues that might result in arrests. Residents who have any information about persons who may possess pellet guns are urged to immediately notify authorities. All information will be considered confidential.

The overnight vandalism followed an incident that occurred Saturday afternoon on Clifton Avenue when Robert D. Fescio of Sunrise Park, and his 2-year-old daughter, Beverly Ann, narrowly escaped injury when someone shot a large hole in the rear glass of the man's automobile.

Police are continuing investigation of the damage reported to four parked automobiles that resulted Monday night or early yesterday in the vicinity of Prospect, Van Buren and Henry Streets. Authorities were told that windows had been "shot out" of the vehicles.

It has not been determined whether there is any connection with the Saturday and Monday night incidents. This is being checked by authorities.

The first complaints of windows being damaged by lead pellets were received at police headquarters early this morning and policemen on duty discovered other windows had been peppered with pellets as they patrolled the city's business areas.

According to a spokesman for a local glass company, plate glass costs two dollars a square foot, plus the cost of installation. Based on that rate the cost to the owners of business establishments involved in the overnight vandalism would be high if all windows are replaced.

In some instances, two or more holes were shot through the glass. The location of the buildings involved indicates that whoever caused the damage apparently toured through the city by car.

It probably was one of the worst incidents of its kind to occur in this city in many years, it was noted.

The Salvation Army store and Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. on Central Broadway were included in the wave of vandalism.

Other complaints were received from the Albany Avenue Grand Union store, Hammond Organ Co., Albany Avenue Garage, Grand Diner, Hendrick's Sunoco Station, Short's Atlantic Station and Ziggy's Esso, the Tri County firm, Esposito's, Central Lunch, London's, the Purple Haze Boutique, Good-year Service Store, Colonial

Also, Scholars on Broadway, Ray Chevrolet, Rosendale Florist, Van Winkle Bedding Company, State Farm Insurance at 610½ Broadway, Governor Clinton Market, Lynch Auto Parts, the H. F. King Corp., Fraser & Myers Appliance Sales and Service, Inc., Woolworth store on Wall Street, Grand Union Market in Kingston Shopping Plaza, the Save-on Store and Schaller's.

It was reported that most of the acts of vandalism were discovered by police on patrol during the early morning hours.

Greene Crash Claims Five

One of Thruway's Worst

By WALTER S. CLARK

CATSKILL

Three Brooklyn residents, on their way to Athens to attend a funeral, lost their lives and two upstate children were killed at about 5 p.m. Tuesday in a spectacular, grinding head-on collision of two vehicles that occurred on the State Thruway near mile post 108.6 in this Greene County township.

Four other persons, including the mother of the two youngsters, survived the crash described by authorities as one of the worst to occur on the superhighway in this area.

Ambulances from several nearby communities, doctors and nurses from local hospitals sped to the scene after State Police were notified of the tragedy.

Traffic on the northbound lane where the crash occurred was halted while the injured were extricated from the wrecked station wagon and car. The bodies were removed to the morgue.

The station wagon carrying an upstate woman and her four children was demolished. A 67-year-old Brooklyn woman was the lone survivor in the passenger car, which was wrecked.

Trooper Jerry Pine of the Kingston barracks of Troop T who conducted the investigation with BCI officers from the Leeds station and top-ranking State Police officials from Albany said the station wagon was driven by Mrs. Joan O'Rourke, 38, of 42 Ludlow Street, Saratoga Springs. The passenger vehicle was operated by Patsy Louis Rizzo, 51, of 587 83rd Street, Brooklyn. He was one of the five killed.

Others who lost their lives in the tragic crash were Rizzo's wife, Frances, 43; Josephine Mays, 66, of 616 4th Avenue, Brooklyn, a passenger in Rizzo's car; Gene Patrick O'Rourke, 9, and his brother, Richard Michael O'Rourke, 11, children of the operator of the station wagon.

Injured survivors of the fatality were Mrs. O'Rourke, who was listed as critical at Kingston Hospital; her children, Donna, 13, who was taken to the same hospital, and Lorraine, 15, who was listed in critical condition at Benedictine Hospital and Marie Antonini, 67, of 587 83rd Street, Brooklyn, who was described as critical at Benedictine Hospital.

According to preliminary investigation by troopers the mishap may have been caused by a blowout of a rear tire of the station wagon operated by the upstate woman. The investigation is being continued.

"It was the worst mess involving human beings that I have seen in my 16 years of business," said Clifton Jones, operator of the Saugerties Ambulance Service. He noted that two of his vehicles took five of the survivors of the crash to hospitals in Kingston. His rescue unit removed four bodies to the morgue at the Greene County Memorial Hospital in this community.

Greene County Coroner Fred Decker of Windham, who investigated with troopers at the scene, withheld a verdict pending completion of the inquiry.

Ulster County Coroner William S. Keyser examined Gene O'Rourke, who was pronounced dead on arrival at Kingston Hospital where he was taken by Saugerties Ambulance service.

Pompidou Gives Mideast Stance

WASHINGTON (UPI)—French President Georges Pompidou told a joint session of Congress today that a Middle East peace settlement must include a renunciation of force by both sides and a solution to the problem of the Arab refugees from Palestine.

He told the senators and House members that France reaffirms "the right of the state of Israel not only to existence but also to security" from its Arab neighbors.

Pompidou made the Middle East situation a highlight of his prepared speech to Congress but he also touched on the outlook for the United States in the Vietnam War.

He said that the French government has at times regretted the length of the war and "wondered whether the paths followed had always been the speediest and surest."

"But I know, from having observed it just yesterday, the will to peace which guides the President of the United States," the French leader said.

That was a reference to his first business session—a two-hour, three-minute meeting—with President Nixon. They confer again Thursday.

Pompidou made no specific references to French experiences in fighting in Vietnam and Algeria but he apparently had them in mind as he gave this word of advice to the United States regarding Vietnam.

"I know—because France has experienced it—how difficult it is to end such conflicts and that the stronger a people, the greater the effort required, but also the greater the honor won. Allow me, as a friend, to tell you that the end of the war in Vietnam, for the United States, will be the most precious of victories—a victory won first over oneself."

Pompidou's address was one of the special honors accorded him during his eight-day visit to the United States. The last foreign statesman to address Congress was President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz of Mexico in October, 1967.

Pompidou planned to arrive on Capitol Hill after meeting in the morning with Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird and Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy.

Cairo newspaper says Israeli agents may have been behind two in-flight air explosions... Story Page 34.

The Nixon administration, which gave Pompidou a full dress welcome Tuesday, has been concerned his visit should not be marred by demonstrations or personal insults.

Mother on Fertility Drugs

The Jersey Quints 'Good'

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 27-year-old New Jersey mother using fertility drugs gave birth to quintuplets Tuesday night. Doctors said today the three girls and two boys, delivered in only 10 minutes, were in "good" condition.

Parents of the as-yet unnamed babies were Mrs. Margaret Kienast and her husband, William, 38, a salesman for the Nixon Baldwin Division of Tenneco, Inc., and a resident of Far Hills, N.J. They have two other children, a daughter, 4, and a son, 1½, both born after Mrs. Kienast took fertility drugs.

The quints, six weeks premature, were put in incubators as a matter of "routine," according to doctors at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center where they were delivered in normal birth—not Caesarian section. A spokesman said "chemical laboratory tests indicate that for the first three hours of life they are making normal, post-natal adaptation."

He later said they are in "good" condition. Kienast said doctors had known it would be a multiple birth and he and his wife were expecting it. "You wouldn't happen to have five new names handy?" he joked. "I can tell you one thing, we're going to be needing a lot more house pretty soon."

The first, a girl, was born at 10:08 p.m. and weighed three pounds, four ounces—the smallest. Another girl was born one minute later and weighed three pounds, 13 ounces, followed by a boy at 10:13 weighing four pounds, six ounces—the largest; a girl at 10:16 weighing three pounds and 14 ounces and a boy at 10:18 weighing three pounds, eight ounces.

If the babies all live they will be the second set of surviving quintuplets in the United States—and the sixth set in the world. The American quints were born Sept. 14, 1963, to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Fischer of Aberdeen, S.D. The four girls and one boy live in seclusion on their father's 100-acre farm west of Aberdeen and their mother does not allow them to make public appearances, saying she wants them to lead a "normal" life.

Fertility drugs have increased the possibility of multiple births, but until they became common the odds against quintuplets were 54 million to one. New York has had only one other set—also born to a woman taking fertility drugs. They were born Feb. 1, 1967, to Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Harris. A boy and three girls survived the birth.

In London, meanwhile, for Sylvia Allen, 34, childless after seven years of marriage, there is no moral issue involved in her attempt to give birth to a baby conceived in a test tube.

"All I want in the world is to be a mother," she said.

Mrs. Allen cannot conceive normally because the Fallopian tubes that carry sperm cells to her womb are blocked. Despite her feelings, a controversy is growing over the experiment.

Two doctors plan to implant a fertilized egg in her womb sometime in the next two to six weeks. The egg was taken from Mrs. Allen's womb and was later fertilized in a laboratory by Mrs. Allen's husband, Kenneth, 39.

The egg is in a laboratory in the care of Dr. Robert Edwards and Dr. Patrick Steptoe of Cambridge University.

Rocky's Drug War — Demo Cool

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Governor Rockefeller, moving to pre-empt a major election-year issue, has proposed a $265 million program of "total war" on teenage drug addiction.

The program, announced with more fanfare than any other gubernatorial proposal this year, includes $200 million in loans for building local treatment centers, $65 million in operating aid, instruction for 10,000 teachers in drug education programs, and a State Investigation Commission probe of "hard drug" traffic.

"Nothing less than a total mobilization of community effort will suffice," the governor said in announcing the program Tuesday.

Assembly Democratic Leader Stanley Steingut was quick to criticize the plans for concentration more on construction of facilities than immediate rehabilitation efforts, but deferred a decision on whether to support it.

Rockefeller delayed his news conference for 45 minutes while last minute touches were applied and chairs were set up for various leaders endorsing the plan.

They included Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea, Senate GOP Leader Earl W. Brydges, Education Commissioner Ewald B. Nyquist, Lawrence W. Pierce, chairman of the Narcotic Addiction Control Commission, and SIC Chairman Paul J. Curran. Democratic leaders were not invited.

The program includes: —$200 million in loans from the Housing Finance Agency for construction of local treatment centers.

—$65 million for the state to share half the operating costs of centers.

A "take Charlie Goodell or else" lecture has been called by Gov. Rockefeller. The Governor and Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea Jr. were traveling different routes. Stories on Page 2.

—$800,000 for the Board of Regents and Education Department to expand drug education programs and train 10,000 teachers in such courses.

—An SIC probe on "all facets of the heroin and hard drug problem faced by metropolitan authorities, particularly in the New York City area."

Both the Regents and the SIC were scheduled to discuss implementing the plans at meetings today in Albany and New York City, respectively.

The program's aim, Rockefeller said, was to "make it plain to the corrupters of our youth that this is war."

"Our society can and must meet this challenge—for if we don't, we have a new 'lost generation' on our hands," he said. Particular emphasis is on the schools and drug users under 16, he said, since current programs concentrate on older addicts.

"Organized crime is unquestionably in control of the heroin traffic," Curran said. "And I think one of the most important things here is that we have to look at the whole quality of law enforcement on the local, state and federal level."

Steingut reacted to the announcement by saying, "The program is too far in the future. There are ways we believe that can get underway much faster."

The Democratic leader said many state facilities, such as the downstate medical complex in Brooklyn, are not being utilized.

Citing the minority proposal for $3 million in immediate aid to local programs, Steingut said "If these facilities could be financed adequately it would make one helluva dent."

Sen. Samuel L. Greenberg, D-Brooklyn, said the GOP plan was only "passing the buck to the localities" by its loans and matching requirements. Steingut said, however, that he would not "play politics" with the issue, and might support it after the bills were introduced and studied.

Avalanche Alarm Issued

Officials fear 29 persons have been killed in the slide. Swiss authorities have issued a general avalanche alarm throughout the Alps today in fear of more killer slides. Speaker at Old Dutch Event Urges Personal Involvement

By JEAN F. DOLAN KINGSTON

Urging personal involvement in all things, the Old Dutch Church Men's Club Washington Day speaker put the preservation of America's heritage squarely in the hands of his capacity audience Tuesday night.

Dr. Frank A. Court, pastor of Trinity United Methodist Church, Denver, Colo., addressing the 45th annual event at Bethany Hall, drew on his world travels and personal experience to underline his plea to live life to the fullest. He urged creative hands and hearts, not wrung hands and despair to make the impossible dream the possible dream.

The noted minister, lecturer and writer returned time and again to the importance of self involvement to achieve all important unity needed to solve today's problems of generation gap, civil rights and world peace. He cited George Washington as a glowing example of the kind of committed man with a sense of self and unity as a man for today's problems.

Dr. Court commended The Daily Freeman's Washington Day editorial on the founding father's sense of unity, noting this as the keynote to Washington's success in creating a new nation. This is the lesson of history to be emulated, he said.

Spicing his address with quick wit, Dr. Court held his audience to the theme of Our Response to Our American Heritage. He called today a "day of hope" urging that people must "learn to live together." If we can get to the moon in eight short years of committed effort then we can make the impossible dream possible," he concluded.

In the program preceding Dr. Court's address, special honor was paid to two Men's Club members who have attended every one of the Washington Day dinners. They are Harold Brigham and Harry duBois Frey. Additional recognition was accorded Frey, former general manager of The Freeman, as the last living charter member of the men's organization.

Invocation was given by the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of Old Dutch Church with the Rev. John H. Gilmore, pastor of Riveview Baptist Church and director of the Kingston Human Relations Commission delivering the benediction.

General chairman, Clair S. Sheaffer, served as master of ceremonies. Welcome was offered by Neil Denny, Men's Club president. Kingston's Mayor Francis R. Koenig spoke briefly.

Rocky Summons GOP Leaders For Endorsement of Goodell

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Governor Rockefeller has called the state's Republican county chairmen to Albany March 3 for another "take Charlie Goodell or else" lecture.

Rockefeller, angered over recent reports that a growing number of county leaders were rebelling against his unequal endorsement of Sen. Charles E. Goodell for the party's Senate nomination, will lay the facts of GOP political life on the line at the meeting.

"I have not changed my position one bit," Rockefeller said. "It wouldn't be fair for me to tell you what I'm going to say to the county chairmen, but you know how I feel."

Rockefeller told the leaders at their last state meeting in Albany Jan. 20 that Goodell was his choice for the Senate nod, and that he wanted Goodell on the ticket or else.

The "or else" as Rockefeller put it, was that he wasn't interested in being on the ticket as the GOP gubernatorial candidate unless there was room for Goodell too.

"This is the only kind of party I'm interested in running with," Rockefeller said.

But, since then, there have been several outbreaks of anti-Goodell sentiment in the party, including:

— State Sen. John H. Marchi, the unsuccessful Republican Conservative candidate for mayor of New York last year point Long Islanders looked to Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea as a possible candidate, but Duryea said he wasn't interested.

— State Sen. Edward F. Speno, R-East Meadow, said the governor's hard sell on Goodell had not changed his plans to oppose Goodell in the primary. A number of other party leaders have indicated they support Speno's stand, although they have not specifically endorsed him.

— A number of upstate county chairmen have made it known to Rockefeller that Goodell was a bitter pill to swallow, and that while they may not oppose the governor openly, they won't support Goodell openly either.

So Rockefeller has called them back together for another "get tough" session.

Republican State Chairman Charles T. Lanigan said the meeting of the 62 chairmen was called "to discuss a variety of matters concerning the 1970 election."

He said included in the "matters" under discussion were "candidates for office, including comptroller and U.S. senator."

And the betting was strong that Goodell would be most discussed "matter."

Bain Reelected By State Council

WASHINGTON

Robert L. Bain of Highland, an advertising salesman for The Daily Freeman, was reelected secretary-treasurer of the Empire State District Council of the American Newspaper Guild (AFL-CIO) at a recent meeting in the nation's capital.

The district, which meets quarterly, represents more than 10,000 working newspaper men and women in New York State and Hudson County, N. J.

Bain is the immediate past president of the Kingston Newspaper Guild. He was elected vice president of the Empire State District Council in 1968 and secretary-treasurer last year.

Frank Jaquinto of Albany was reelected president of the Council.

Different Routes Toward Common Goal

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller and Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea Jr. were traveling different routes today toward a common goal — providing more state aid to local school districts.

Rockefeller said Tuesday he opposes repealing the legislation passed in the 1969 session that reduced the amount of this assistance.

Duryea has endorsed a legislative proposal under which these cutbacks would be rescinded.

The two Republicans do agree, however, that the districts should receive about $360 million more in the 1970-71 school year than they otherwise would have gotten under existing law.

If both prove to be as adamant as they appeared Tuesday, their stated intentions of helping hard-pressed local officials could cause considerable horn-locking before the impasse is broken.

The latest chapter in the school - aid issue got started Monday, when 49 Republican assemblymen proposed to repeal the 1969 legislation and increase operating aid to the districts by 10 per cent, across the board.

Duryea endorsed this approach, devised mainly by Assemblywoman Constance E. Cook, R - Ithaca, who is chairman of the Assembly Education Committee.

At a news conference Tuesday, reporters asked the governor to comment on what, by then, was being dubbed the "Cook proposal."

"I don't think that will be done," Rockefeller said. "There will be no rescinding of last year's legislation."

When the reporters persisted, the governor said he would go along with an across-the-board allocation, which, he added, probably would be 10 per cent.

Although Rockefeller did not specify that this would be the case, it was presumed that he was thinking about increasing the ceiling on per-pupil aid to $900, rather than the present $760.

The higher ceiling has been proposed by Sen. D. Clinton Dominick, R - Newburgh, chairman of the legislature's study committee on education. That proposal was part of an intricate school-aid plan the senator put forth last month.

Mrs. Cook's proposal would retain the $760 ceiling.

Council Again Fails to Act On Plans for New City Hall

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON — The Common Council met in special session for the second time within a week Tuesday night and failed to act on the plans for a new city hall in Broadway East.

Last night's special meeting had been recessed from the special meeting on Thursday night.

Thursday night the aldermen met and elected Edward Norton (D-11th Ward) acting presiding officer. They then went into a lengthy caucus after which Norton recessed the meeting until last night.

Norton chaired last night's meeting which he opened by calling for "a five minute recess to sign the committee report."

After the recess Norton announced that there was no committee report since only two of the five members of the City Hall Committee had signed the report. The committee is chaired by Michael S. Perry (D-Seventh Ward) and includes Mrs. Florence S. Ludlow (D-Fourth Ward), Emilio Primo Jr. (D-Eighth Ward), Edmond Roux (R-Ninth Ward) and Titus Sims (R-13th Ward). Mrs. Ludlow, Sims and Roux said they did not sign the report, leaving Primo and Perry as the signers.

After Norton's announcement about the lack of signers, Clifford Sinsbaugh (D-10th Ward) moved to relieve the committee of its duties, which if approved would have brought the report out on the floor for a vote. Sinsbaugh's motion was seconded by Primo.

The motion to relieve the committee of its duties was defeated 8-4. The presiding officer does not vote except in case of a tie. Voting for the motion were John Heitzman (D-First Ward), Perry, Primo and Sinsbaugh.

Voting against it were John Machlone (R-Second Ward), Brian Smith (R-Third Ward), Sixth Ward), Roux, Peter Man-a motion seconded by Heitzman. The Council is expected to take up the city hall issue at its regular March 3 meeting.

Famous Rhinebeck Landmark Causes Much Controversy

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK Points of view polarized over the importance of a local landmark at Tuesday night's zoning hearing by the Village of Rhinebeck.

The focal point in a dispute concerning the advisability of zoning the area residential or commercial was the Henry Delamater house, built in 1884 on Montgomery Street, also known as Route 9, and considered by most architectural experts as the finest example of the gothic cottage in existence in the United States.

The house is presently owned and occupied by Michael J. Strong, a former local weekly newspaper publisher, who has it on the market.

A petition was presented to the village board, signed by 41 residents of the immediate area, asking that its residential classification be retained. Robert Cook spoke for the petitioners saying, "Do we want another Hyde Park?" The allusion, made several times by different persons, referred to the lack of planning in Hyde Park which was produced a sometimes garish lack of coordination and intermingling of different types of factories, businesses, and homes.

Richard Crowley gave the board a brief history of the house, saying that it is the "most famous building in Rhinebeck and is known all over the country, more than the Beekman Arms." He said that architect Andrew Jackson Davis, who designed the house and several others in the Hudson Valley, was the lifelong subject of study of a Columbia University woman who stated that it was "the very best example of gothic revival architecture in America."

The request to change the zoning in this area to commercial in the proposed zoning plan was made by Louis Ruge, proprietor of an automobile dealership and service station. He said that the business required more land, and wanted to use his vacant lot across the street to park cars.

Strong, owner of the house in question, noted that several persons looking at it with an intent to buy had been concerned with the possibility of the neighborhood becoming a center for commercial activity, but also said he thought the board should give Ruge's request "consideration."

The Rhinebeck Historical Society, the Dutchess County Landmarks Association, and the Hudson River Valley Authority have all expressed concern. Another issue discussed at the hearing involved a request by Arthur Wright to retain an industrial classification for his parcel of land at the north end of the village, rather than rezoning it commercial.

Mayor Sipperley noted that the planning board is working on setting up a new classification between commercial and industrial to deal with the Fried property on Route 308, and perhaps it would also be applicable to the Wright site. This would demand site plan approval by the zoning board of appeals before any construction could be undertaken.

One resident expressed the opinion that "many people have moved to Rhinebeck because it is not an industrial area, and there is nothing wrong with being a bedroom community." Sipperley assured him that there were no plans to lure industry into the area.

FOCAL POINT OF CONTROVERSY

Director Lauds Addict Center

By SHANE CROSBY

ELLENVILLE Youthful Kevin Dougherty, director of the Wawarsing Narcotics Guidance Council's "WEC Storefront" in Ellenville recently reported to the council that between 30 and 40 persons have been interviewed in the shop on Canal Street and four have been placed in treatment programs.

Dougherty, himself a former drug addict and now directing his efforts at helping addicts "kick the habit," told the council at a recent session that four of the 30 or 40 persons have been placed in Odyssey House, a non-profit drug rehabilitation center in New York City.

In addition, Dougherty said he has been making speaking engagements with local groups on the drug problem and possible ways of dealing with drug addiction.

Council members responded to the director's report by commenting that the "storefront" operation is working out better than had been expected for so early in its existence. Even Dougherty commented in an interview a few weeks ago that he did not expect as much response so early in the operation, saying "we just started."

Funds to operate the store, open to anyone with a drug problem without fear of imprisonment, is obtained from the township alone, but village assistance is expected to begin in June; until which time the council says it hopes it can "squeak by" on its own.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 25, 1970

Seasonal Swindlers

If every Kingston area resident approached by a stranger with something to sell would make certain that the salesman represented a legitimate business, fewer people would be separated from their hard-earned money.

Each year as winter draws to a close The Freeman forewarns residents of Kingston and the surrounding area, about the swindles and rackets that start blooming about this time of year, but many still fall victims of the charlatan's schemes.

The transient merchant is here today and away tomorrow, while your local reputable businessman is in back of everything he sells. As Attorney General Lefkowitz pointed out before the Kingston Kiwanis Club, the local merchant deals with the community the year 'round and wants you back as a customer.

Your local businessman offers particularly fine service and is in back of everything he sells. Residents of this area don't have to go elsewhere or depend upon the visiting salesman for quality products at reasonable prices.

The beneficial effect of doing business with your local merchant should be plain to everyone.

Spring, being traditionally a time for home repair and improvement, brings out a motley assortment of itinerant repairmen and fast-talking door-to-door salesmen with phony bargains, trick financing, guarantees not honored, materials misrepresented and performances exaggerated.

The itinerant pitchman, not to be confused with representatives of reputable sales companies, arrives in a variety of guises and with the customary pitch that he is working in the neighborhood, sees the need of his services and can do the job at less than his usual rates because all of the necessary gear is nearby. Everything is rather casual, including the price quotation, until the bill is rendered. The price originally quoted has a way of increasing phenomenally as the work proceeds. The prices they offer cannot be met by local merchandisers. And for good reason. The fly-by-night peddlers' work and products are inferior.

If a stop is to be put to the schemes and gimmicks, which are used by those who seek to make an easy dollar, the consumer must take an active participating role in the fight against fraudulent and deceptive selling prices.

The businessman who tries to carry on with integrity and regard for his customers has a like right to look to the people and to public officials for protection against the unscrupulous segment who are destroying public confidence in the entire business world.

Dr. Frederick Snyder

The death of Dr. Frederick Snyder, who practiced medicine in the Kingston area as a family physician and surgeon for over 60 years, removes from the scene one of the area's best known practitioners. His death is a great loss to the community, which he served with intense devotion to his profession. His was a life of unselfish service to humanity.

Dr. Snyder won widespread recognition for his professional skill from medical groups. He served on the staffs of both the Kingston and Benedictine Hospitals and as a consultant at the Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville and Greene County Hospital, Catskill. He also was instrumental in the establishment of the Ulster County Tumor Clinic, Kingston Laboratory and the former Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital.

In recent years he spent much of his time to the development of Kingston Hospital as a health center. He utilized his long life for the betterment of his thousands of patients, who remember him fondly.

He also distinguished himself in the armed services of our country when in World War I he received a citation for meritorious performance at the battle of La Salle, Busigrey, France.

The record of this outstanding citizen's life is written in the hearts of the people who knew him and loved him. It is a record which cannot be erased, destroyed or dimmed.

"How long can the Soviet border delegation continue drinking tea in Peking?" asks a Soviet newsman. It is his way of emphasizing that prospects for a Sino-Soviet settlement on borders, policy and ideology are as remote as ever. The return of the Soviet negotiator, Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov may signal total collapse.

Congress has expressed the gratitude of the American people to General of the Army Omar Nelson Bradley, the last surviving officer of World War II, with the rank of General of the Army. Bradley commanded the U. S. 1st Army in the invasion of Normandy and later the U. S. 12th Army Group in World War II. He was the first chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The Hand that Feeds Him

David Lawrence Says Country Is Suffering Some Recession Pains

WASHINGTON — Whether it's called a "slowdown" or a business "readjustment" or some other euphemistic term, there seems to be no doubt now that the symptoms of a recession are appearing.

Unemployment is increasing. Businessmen are holding up plans for expansion. Borrowing for new projects — particularly for construction — is deterred by reason of high interest rates. Above all, great uncertainty prevails in the business world.

Over the weekend, General Motors announced it is laying off nearly 4,000 workers at four plants in Michigan and one in Ohio for single-week periods beginning this week. It was also disclosed that 7,500 employees at three factories manufacturing automobile parts across the nation have been laid off indefinitely since the beginning of the year.

But despite these unfavorable developments, General Motors is faced with an increase in wage costs. Chairman James M. Roche has warned the United Auto Workers that it can "sentence our economy to still more crippling inflation" if, in the coming contract negotiations, large wage increases are insisted on, along with big fringe benefits.

Labor Management negotiations this year will cover five million workers, including 742,000 in the auto industry, and prospects are causing much concern. The government has not stepped in to assure restraint on both sides. Meanwhile, the cost of living is currently rising at a rate much faster than last year, though there has been a drop in prices for certain articles. Food has gone up more than expected, and the forecasts of government agencies indicate that the trend will continue upwards.

Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy told a congressional committee that the dip in business activity is likely to last until midyear, but there are evidences that the recovery period may be deferred until next year unless some means is found promptly to halt the spiral of wage and price increases.

What is happening inside business is not always visible to the naked eye. Layoffs are sometimes not publicized, but certainly employment and spending are being diminished as many companies seek to reduce expenses.

Perhaps the most important cutdown has been in the building industry — due largely to high interest rates. Housing starts have been substantially reduced, and the construction of apartments as well as single-family homes is in a truly big slump, for some businesses, therefore, recession is real.

On the whole, the country is suffering some of the pains of a recession. While it is not as severe as economic setbacks that the nation has experienced, the profit outlook is by no means a happy one for many companies. This, in turn, will provide the federal government less and less in tax receipts. So all around the picture is not as bright as it has been painted. The real question is how much worse it may prove to be before the end of 1970.

The Nixon administration, moreover, is confronted with a dilemma. It can hardly let the present situation drift along for fear that the adverse conditions will hurt the Republican party in the November elections. The chances are, therefore, that by midsummer some lowering of interest rates will be tried, and this may stimulate the housing industry.

While the administration thus far has taken an adamant position on the subject of wage-and-price-control laws, it has not said that it would object to joint conferences of management and labor to develop voluntary plans for self-restraint. There are indications that the labor-union leaders would co-operate in such a program and that management would welcome it, too.

Certainly, if Congress is not to be asked to enact any new laws, the administration will find itself left with no alternative except to consult with the leaders of business and labor to devise a "voluntary" plan whereby productivity can be measured and wage rates moved up only as they reflect increases in productivity. This idea was used in the early days of the Kennedy administration.

Some scheme will have to be worked out for the next two or three years at least if stability is to be accomplished. For it is evident now that high interest rates alone are not going to curb inflation.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Today is my wife's birthday. She would like rather than admit that she is now forty-one years of age. Her calendar years are of small interest to me. What is important is that she is the most attractive child I've ever known.

She is five seven, 135 pounds, has the classic features you might find on an old Greek coin, and long blonde hair which is tied in a bun. Statistics never explained anything about a marriage. A few years ago, I wrote a column in which I said that, with Kelly at my side, I was the luckiest man in the world. Nothing has happened to alter that assessment.

And yet I am aware that there are millions of wives who work as hard at making a marriage a healthy relationship. Some, who had the misfortune to marry wanderers, even work harder.

It seems awkward to say that we are approaching our ninth anniversary, and we have a daughter, 31, one 26, one 16 and another—my personal kitten—15. There was a former wife; there was a former husband, and neither of us will permit anyone to put the rap on them. Both were good people.

We also have eight grandchildren, which is downright silly. But there they are—lovable moppets all. Possibly the most amazing aspect of this marriage is that the older daughters send Mother's Day gifts to Kelly and call her "Mom." This was something I couldn't give to her; she had to earn it.

First of all, Kelly is a female female. From 1 p.m. to 4, she is out shopping, even when we don't need anything. I don't know how many dresses have gone in and out of her closet, but I would like to have a buck for each one. She sometimes comes home with a handsome brocade dress with a tag marked down from $89.90 to $11. In her purse is the red pencil which performs this miracle.

She wanted to have more children, but I said that I wouldn't want to have a baby whose old man was old. It slowed her up, but it didn't change her thinking.

She loves to cook—a rarity—and we do not eat gourmet style, but she can make a beef stew which is so great that it is almost sinful. She and Kathleen use a sewing machine to death. I can hear that thing going all the way from my office—which is in the garage.

We live well. Our house is Chinese, with red-orange tiles on the roof, a swimming pool in back, and a Hatteras boat tied up in a lagoon behind the back porch. We have considered neighbors who do not remember our name, and we do not remember theirs. We nod and smile.

Now and then, when a book of mine sells well, I buy a couple of bonds for Kelly, because I am sure that I will make the Great Adieu first. I have not done as well as this as I planned, but that is only one of the ways in which I have failed this wife.

I do not study other women because I am not interested. However, I made the mistake of whistling through my teeth when Jane Fonda came on a movie screen, and I almost lost the whistling teeth. That was my last whistle.

In about five years, the two younger girls will be ready for marriage and the prospect is lonely. When we were married, we made a pledge "Wither thou goest . . ." and I never accept an invitation which does not include her. When the little girls leave the nest, we will rattle around in this big house like buckshot in a soup tureen.

No one asked her to study journalism. Being wife and mother was sufficient. But she did, and now when I go out on a story, Kelly goes with me, making notes on decor, attitudes, voice and speech. When I find that she has everything I missed. In the White House, two Presidents were surprised at her work—Kennedy and Johnson.

And yet a man in love with his own wife is not to be trusted. He imputes virtues which are not there. My wife has a hard side which she tries to conceal. The people she likes can do no wrong; the ones she dislikes—Jane Fonda, for example—can do no right. To her, this is a black and white world—she can't see gray.

She is 41; looks like 31; and thinks like 70. If I were asked, before the Highest Tribunal, to name one cardinal merit in favor of Mrs. B., it would be this: She was born a lady . . .

Jack Anderson Says Los Angeles Mayor Staging Another $100-A-Plate Dinner

LOS ANGELES — Mayor Sam Yorty has invited his faithful supporters to another testimonial dinner—at $100 per plate or, preferably, $1,000 a table — to raise money for "voter education."

The voters undeniably could get a valuable education from an examination of Yorty's fund raising. The story, indeed, deserves national attention, since Yorty has declared his interest in Governor Ronald Reagan's job.

The Yorty dinner, which will be held with appropriate hoopla at the Hollywood Palladium on March 12, should add as much as $100,000 to the "Citizens for Yorty" treasury. This is a secret campaign chest, which is periodically fattened by birthday balls, testimonial dinners and other euphemisms for Collection Day.

The treasury is kept open for contributions perennially, whether or not Yorty is running for office. The mayor apparently feels the voters need education in non campaign years, too. However, he doesn't wish to carry their education too far. He has kept them in the dark about how he spends the money.

When his high living became a campaign issue last year, he listed his personal net worth at $171,444. His cash on hand, he said, amounted to barely $5,000.

"I'm a little ashamed of my meager resources," he said sadly as he described his impoverishment.

He carefully avoided giving an accounting, however, of his "Citizens for Yorty" collections and expenditures. Insiders say millions have passed through this mysterious account. There is no evidence that the money has been spent to educate voters, except possibly for the educational opportunity of watching Yorty's political performance.

Yo-Yo Yorty

Yo-Yo Yorty, whose nickname is suggested by his ups and downs, gave a more convincing portrayal of an impoverished politician before he became mayor. Defeated for the Senate in 1954, he opened a small law office and acquired an unimpressive list of clients, including dry cleaners, dump operators, and the like.

He lived in a modest home that he purchased in 1940 for $8,300. He bought his suits on sale, and his shoes developed Adlai Stevenson soles.

His bank account was so precarious that he balked over a $232 auto repair bill after his car broke down on the Arizona desert. He scratched out a check for the repairs on his law office account. The check, dated July 29, 1960, was made out to Read Mullin Motor Company of Phoenix. Then, after driving off, Yorty asked the bank to stop payment.

A year later, he moved triumphantly into the mayor's office and immediately began to improve his living style. He purchased the former home of movie star Mickey Rooney in a better neighborhood.

Mickey Rooney's House

The house was picked up at auction by a Los Angeles advertising man named James W. Raymond, who sold it to the mayor. It may be merely a coincidence that Yorty had just appointed Raymond's business associate, Melvin J. Erickson, as airport commissioner. Raymond and Erickson are still partners in a Los Angeles eatery called Whitting Hill.

Yo-Yo Yorty's new abode appeared to be too posh for his meager budget, but he hastened to explain that the purchase price had been a bargain $45,600. The tax stamps, affixed to the grant deed, indicated that the house was sold for $60,000.

In any event, the mayor mortgaged the house up to the hilt. He obtained one $45,000 loan from Investors Savings and Loan Association and another $15,000 loan from seller Raymond. Curiously, Yorty signed his wife's name to both trust deeds. Later, his handwriting was crossed out, and his wife's signature was entered.

On August 21, 1961, the same day the two loans were granted, Yorty quitclaimed the property to his wife, making her the sole owner. The following month, she borrowed another $3,993 on the house from the Security First National Bank.

In other words, the Yortys were able to wrangle $63,993 in loans against a house that the mayor asserted he had purchased for only $46,500. This amounts to just about the nearest sleight-of-hand in real estate history.

City-Financed Liquor

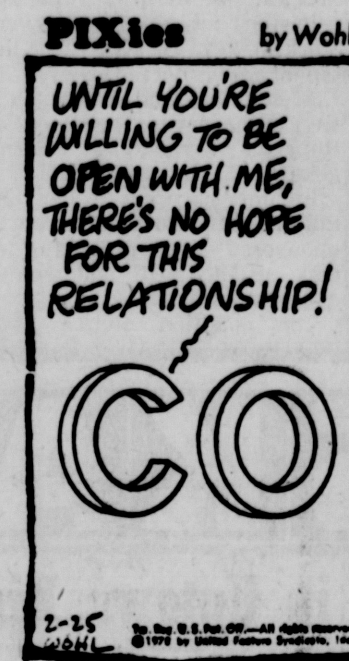

Yorty also brought his living habits into line with his fashionable new house. He began turning up, pressed and pomaded, in tailored suits of expensive cut and color. The city also began delivering to his home unspecified "equipment and supplies," which insiders confide is liquor and bar facilities. He billed the city for waiters, musicians and parking attendants to entertain his guests.

Yorty also has accumulated the biggest personal staff in Los Angeles history — 60 employees with salaries totalling $775,000 a year. This doesn't include employees he borrows from city departments.

A city limousine, with around-the-clock police drivers, is assigned for his personal use. His wife bills the city for secretarial and other help. The Yortys have also become jet-set world travelers—at the city's expense, of course.

They can be found in such pleasure spots as Hong Kong, Paris and Rome whenever the mayor gets weary of attending to rubbish collection, public works budget, complaints of senior citizens and his other metropolitan chores.

Note: Mayor Yorty refused to take a call from this column for his comments. Instead, he referred the call to his press man who copied down a list of questions. At this writing, no answers have been received from Los Angeles City Hall. However, Yorty's friends defend his record, saying his spending is for the good of the city, and claim he has become one of America's best good-will ambassadors to foreign lands.

Nixon's Style and Philosophy In Handling Foreign Relations

By RAY CROMLEY

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — President Nixon's first year in office has provided revealing clues to his personal style and philosophy in handling foreign relations and foreign crises.

● He avoids confrontations and makes extensive use of strategic delays.

● He has great confidence in talking with men and negotiating with nations. He is prepared down to the last data paper. He has a catalogue of things he can do as president outside the conference which may influence what goes on inside.

● He is convinced you can talk to the Russians. He believes you may be able to talk with the North Vietnamese. He is determined to talk with the Communist Chinese.

But his avoidance of confrontation requires some analysis.

When North Korea shot down the EC-121 reconnaissance plane, the President did nothing. Yet candidate Nixon had said of the earlier North Korean capture of the USS Pueblo, "The Communist world has been jointly testing the proposition that the United States is overextended, over-committed and underprepared to act . . . Unless the United States reacts to these small slights, you are bound to encourage bigger slights and you're going to have more Pueblos."

When the North Vietnamese resumed shelling South Vietnam's cities, the President did nothing. Yet President Johnson had stopped air attacks on North Vietnam in 1968 with the proviso that all restrictions would be off if the Reds began again to shell urban areas.

When Peru confiscated a major American investment without compensation, the President did nothing. Yet American law states clearly the retaliation a President must take and sets a time limit in which it must be taken.

In each case, Nixon side-stepped and continued talking. Some intimates say this non-confrontation concept comes out of the President's background in the law.

Other presidential associates say the avoidance of confrontation is in his character. If an administration official does something the President doesn't like, Mr. Nixon is said to be reluctant to face up to the man and tell him, "That won't happen, again."

This characteristic makes some Nixon men worry. The success of the Vietnamization policy, for example, depends in some measure on the credibility of the President's warning to the North Vietnamese that if they took advantage of American withdrawals to launch heavy attacks on the South, the United States would retaliate strongly.

If the President's credibility has not been weakened too greatly, and the United States does get down to serious talks with the North Vietnamese, the Chinese — or any other nation, for that matter — the Nixon administration negotiation tactics can be outlined in some detail.

● Set the ground rules before you start. For the arms limitation talk with the Soviet Union, it was mutually agreed that neither party would engage in propaganda aimed at breaking up relationships with the other's allies.

● Talk and keep on talking. Don't wait until the time is right. Don't expect quick results. Don't give up when things seem hopeless. Don't panic at no visible progress.

● Don't get yourself in a box. "In the recent past," says one Nixon aide, "the United States has defeated its purposes by committing itself to one particular form of European unity instead of waiting for the Europeans to develop their own formula." Countries will sign agreements based on their own interests, not ours.

● Show personal diplomacy, especially in dealing with the Communists. As a White House man explains it, personal diplomacy actually makes it harder for the Soviets to settle a problem because Communists cannot settle anything simply on the basis of good personal relations. Communists settle problems only if their assessment makes it in their interest to come to an understanding.

Hawaii Virtually Eliminates the Abort Curbs

HONOLULU (AP) — The Hawaii legislature has passed a bill virtually eliminating curbs on abortion.

The bill in effect repeals a 101-year-old present law which permits abortion only to save the life of the mother. Final legislative action came with a 15-9 vote in the state senate Tuesday.

The new measure would permit abortion by licensed physicians in licensed hospitals if the woman has been a Hawaii resident for at least 90 days and the fetus is not "viable."

Legislative lawyers interpret "viable" to mean fetuses far enough developed to live outside the womb and say it would cover pregnancies up to four or five months.

Medically unlicensed persons performing abortions would be subject to maximum penalty of a $1,000 fine or five-year prison term.

Gov. John A. Burns, a Roman Catholic who personally opposes abortion, said earlier he would not veto an abortion reform measure but would let it become law without his signature.

Robert Pearson, a Maui Island contractor who led the anti-repeal forces, said he would take the new law to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

Pearson said he believes the unborn fetus is a human being and has a right to life. This was the basic position taken by the opponents of repeal, most of them Roman Catholics.

A joint House-Senate conference committee said, however, that abortion "should not be a matter of legislation but should be left as an individual matter of conscience and choice."

The Senate passed the reform bill four days after the House of Representatives had acted.

Students End Occupation of Dining Hall

ONEONTA, N.Y. (AP) — About half of the black and Puerto Rican students at the State University campus here ended a 20-hour peaceful occupation of the campus dining hall Tuesday.

The 60 students met with school officials after leaving the hall, but neither side would comment on the substance of the meeting.

Sources indicated the students had presented a set of demands to college President Rowal Netzer and other officials, but the nature of the demands was not disclosed. Further meetings were planned.

Indications were that the protest followed the disappearance of Black Liberation Front and Puerto Rican flags from the dining hall.

The occupation began late Monday evening when the flags were discovered missing. Officials sought to determine who had removed the flags.

There was no reported mill-in' about by the students or any violence or damage. Classes were not disrupted.

Many students on campus were apparently unaware of the protest until after it had ended.

Phone Firm Gets Approval For New Rates

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Telephone rates for millions of New York State subscribers will be increased beginning Thursday at 12:01 a.m. under a $136.7 million rate hike the Public Service Commission approved for the New York Telephone Company Tuesday.

The PSC, which earlier rejected a $175 million rate hike said the increase it had approved was only on an "interim basis and subject to possible refunds."

The approval of the $136 million increase which is 24 per cent less than originally requested came just a few days after the telephone company asked for the reduced amount.

Generally it will mean an increase of about 8 per cent in basic service costs and charges for direct-dial toll calls.

One provision of the change made by the PSC would keep the basic charge of a local call in a coin telephone at 10 cents instead of the 15 cents requested by New York Telephone.

PSC Chairman Joseph C. Swidler said he would continue the investigation of the telephone company's financial needs. He said that some of the rate increases granted might later be refunded if the commission finds the money is not needed.

Kidnaped Girls Unharmed in Alabama Case

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — The FBI said today two little sisters kidnaped from their Butler, Ala., home had been recovered unharmed in Missouri and one of the alleged kidnapers arrested.

The FBI said the girls, Tina Cain, 3, and Tiffany Cain, 2, were found in the car of John Charles Messick at Liberty, Mo. Messick, 21, of Tucson, Ariz., offered no resistance, the FBI said, although a .357 magnum revolver, a .38 caliber pistol and a .22 caliber rifle were in the car.

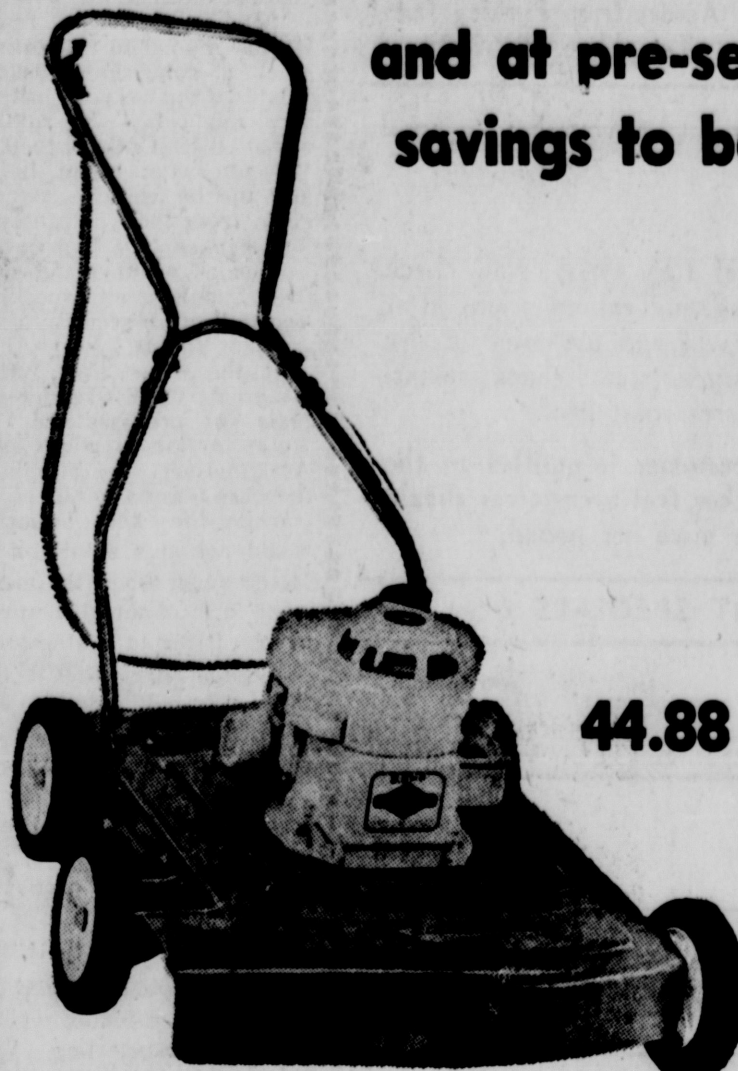

A search was on for a second man identified as Donald Bradford Lee Jones, 23, of Jacksboro, Tex., the FBI said. Jones is a stepbrother of Mrs. Debbie Cain, 19, the mother of the children, who is living in Tucson.

The FBI said the little girls had been taken to a private home in Kansas City, Mo., pending the arrival of the father, Allen Cain, from Alabama. The children's parents are separated and Cain, who works for an oil testing company in Mississippi, had custody of them.

Arab Air Terrorism --- Another Headache for U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. aspects of airline attack by a flying from Europe to Tel Aviv. One Swissair plane exploded shortly after take off from Zurich, killing 47 persons. The question arose here after some European airlines stopped air shipments of cargo and mail to Israel. The only positive action the State Department will admit to is instruction to Charles Butler, U.S. representative to the International Civil Aviation Organization in Montreal to seek a meeting of the ICAO.

Press officer Carl Barth also said the Swiss government has called for a meeting of the International Air Transport Association. The ICAO is a specialized agency of the United Nations, with 116 member nations, which regulates largely technical aspects of international aviation. "We expect some results," Barth replied to a question on what a conference could do. "But we don't know just what they might be." He said it is hoped the ICAO council will "discuss what might be done and maybe we can get some ideas from their delegates."

Barth said he had no information on whether the government is taking any specific action to beef up security of international flights.

At the same time, officials disclosed Israeli Premier Golda Meir has proposed the United States impose sanctions against Arab nations. The official U.S. response was no comment. While the State Department would not give details of Mrs. Meir's suggestions, the most obvious form of sanction would be to stop flying to Arab countries. But should the United States do this, it would almost surely have to stop flights to Israel as well.

There is no indication that anything so drastic is brewing.

One of Thruway's Worst

(Continued From Page One) giving emergency aid to the survivors. Authorities reported the weather was clear and the superhighway was in good condition when the collision occurred. Statistics show that the most recent traffic fatality that claimed five lives occurred on Sept. 28, 1969 on South Ohioville Road in Ardonia. Victims of that accident, noted by authorities as the worst to occur in Ulster County, claimed the lives of two men and a young mother and her two children. Their car was rammed by a Penn-Central Railroad locomotive on a crossing on the back road of the southern Ulster community.

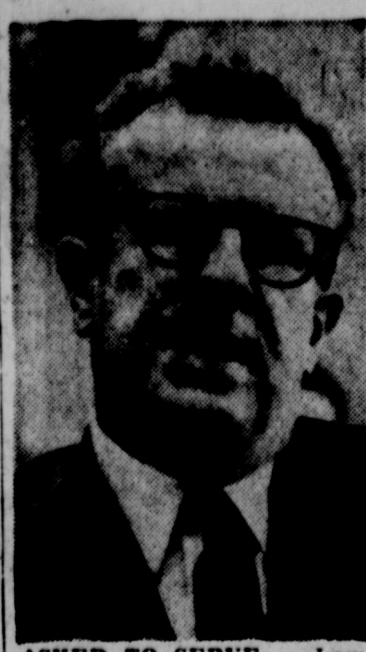

Dr. Frederick B. Henschel of Saugerties, who is associated with the staff at Benedictine Hospital, administered first aid to the injured. He also pronounced four of the victims dead at the scene. Other physicians were at the scene to assist in the upstate vehicle apparently lost control. The station wagon veered across the grassy center median into the northbound lane where the violent head-on collision occurred about seven miles north of Saugerties. Ambulance attendants from Saugerties worked for sometime with troopers before they managed to extricate two bodies from the wreckage of one vehicle.

But we didn't. And as you can see, time was on our side. Because we didn't bother with the simulated air scoops. Or any other put-ons that might put you off. Instead we took the time to build a whole new car from the ground up. In four distinctive versions: Standard, Rally Sport, Super Sport and Z28.

We started with a sleek new shape and a low road-hugging stance. So it hovers a few short inches from the pavement. Right down there with Corvette.

To that we added more hood. A faster fastback. More window area. And wider doors for easier entry.

On RS models, there's even a resilient bumper that surrounds the grille. To protect against nicks and knocks.

Judge's Order Defies New Law in Georgia

By United Press International — Federal District Court Judge W. A. Bootle ordered a Georgia school district to reopen today in defiance of a new state law prohibiting desegregation programs based on racial balance. Schools in Houston County, Ga., had been closed for a week to implement a federal integration plan calling for the transfer of 3,500 students and 130 teachers to achieve a racial balance. After Gov. Lester Maddox signed the new Georgia Desegregation Act Monday, the (Macon) County not to inter-systems were rushing petitions an-fere with the operation of for similar desegregation programs. Bootle, without referring to the new state statute, ordered the Houston classes reopened to parents refusing to transfer their children to other schools, the National Governors' Confer- ence, said Bootle's order choice but to abide by this court surprise him. And he accused order. In Louisiana, Federal District Judge Ben. C. Dawkins Jr. Tuesday approved the "neighborhood plan" of Monroe, La., city schools for desegregation. Other Louisiana school Instead we took the time to build a whole new car from the ground up. In four distinctive versions: Standard, Rally Sport, Super Sport and Z28.

We started with a sleek new shape and a low road-hugging stance. So it hovers a few short inches from the pavement. Right down there with Corvette.

To that we added more hood. A faster fastback. More window area. And wider doors for easier entry.

On RS models, there's even a resilient bumper that surrounds the grille. To protect against nicks and knocks.

Compare the new Camaro with any competitive car in its field.

If you can find one.

Two extra buckets.

No extra bucks.

Most sportsters give you two buckets in front. And a sofa in back. We've done them two better.

The back seat sofa is out. In are two rear bucket-styled cushions.

Up front the buckets are deeply contoured to put you firmly in place. And keep you there. Even in tight turns.

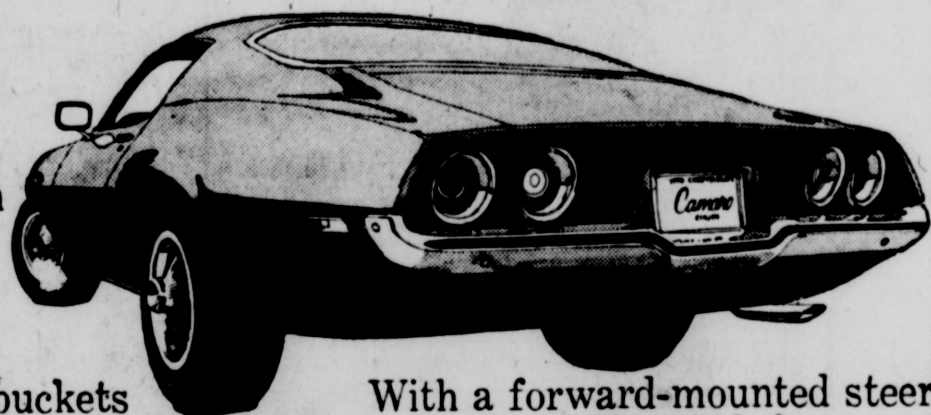

The instrument panel is just as functional. It's flat black and wraps around. With enough dials and instrumentation to make you think you're piloting a 747.

Only with this one you don't need a flight crew.

The special handling is built right in.

had a tough reputation when it came to taking on tight turns. Now we made it tougher.

With a forward-mounted steering linkage and an improved front and rear suspension that give the new Camaro a leech-like grip on the road.

It's something other cars will have a tough time coming to grips with.

What motivates all this? Six power plants up to the 350-hp Turbo-Jet 396 you can order. And four transmissions.

Pick the combination that best suits your driving.

Then go pick on an open road.

Standard disc brakes. You stop as well as you go.

It's only natural.

With all that go, you want an equal amount of stop. You've got it.

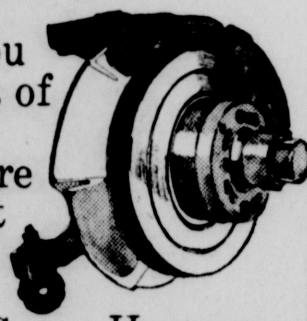

Front disc brakes are standard. For less heat buildup. And more resistance to fade.

New Camaro. The Super Hugger.

Other cars always feared it might come to this. And they were right.

Only their timing was wrong.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

SLOWED DOWN AT 114 — It took a fall and a broken leg to slow down 114-year-old Mrs. Paula Yanez, who until the fall had lived alone and cared for herself in her home in Donna, Texas. Mrs. Yanez, now totally blind, lives now with her daughter while recuperating from the fall. A native of Victoria, Mexico, Mrs. Yanez came to the United States in 1861. She has over 200 descendants and soon will have a great-great-great-grandchild. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Union's Dean of Women Prepares for 100 Coeds

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — The dean of women at Union College has no women to watch over now, but she's getting ready for an invasion that will make the men's school 25 per cent female in 1974.
Mrs. Sheila J. Beams, mother of a 19-year-old girl and a former counselor at Russell Sage College, is the first women dean in Union's 175-year history.
There are preparations to be made for the 100 coeds who will come to Union next fall, but Mrs. Beams said making up a strict set of rules isn't among them.
"These women are as mature as their male counterparts and should have the same degree of independence," asserts the dean. She said the college does not plan to become "the students' parents away from home. . . I don't believe in becoming a warden."
"I believe I'll have a lot more success if I rely on discussion rather than discipline as the guideline of my dealings with the students," Mrs. Beams said.
Union plans to have 500 coeds in a 2,000-member student body in 1974.
There doesn't appear to be much opposition to the female infiltration. According to Mrs. Beams, "all the battles for co-ed education had been argued and won before I came here last fall."
The men are ready, for as the dean says, "They've been waiting 175 years for this."

Malden-West Camp Vols
Hold Chief's Night Dinner

WEST CAMP The highlight of the year for most volunteer fire companies is the annual Chief's Night when service is recognized, speakers give out with glowing rhetoric and someone serves a superb dinner.

More than 130 attended the annual event of Malden-West Camp Fire Company held Saturday night at West Camp Fire Station.

Home Makers
Of Centerville
Hard at Work

SAUGERTIES Many projects were worked on at the recent meeting of Centerville Homemakers Club at Saugerties Savings Bank Building.

The group is planning to make gifts for the residents of the Ellen Russell Finger Home for Easter.

At the March meeting a covered dish luncheon will be held and members will bring their own place setting. Chairlady Katherine Helm, also notified the members that a bazaar sale will be held after this meeting.

The Refreshment Committee will be Charlotte Sperl, Louise Morse and Veronica Jack.

John B. Patterson of West Smith, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, the traditional gold watch for outgoing chiefs and the past chief's badge. For volunteer department chief's, this is the only compensation. They serve without pay as do all volunteer firemen.

Albert J. Cawein, charter secretary of the company, who served as toastmaster, brought Chief Patterson to the "microphone" with some facetious remarks about his term in office. Company President Franklyn P. Clum presented the gold watch and the past chief's badge was presented by Vice President Valmore F. Carpenter, the first chief of the company.

Cawein, the first recording secretary of the company spoke briefly about the early days when the company was founded in 1954 and its achievements in a 14 month period when two first rate fire stations were constructed by volunteer help and two new 1,000-gallon pumper trucks were purchased by the newly formed fire district.

Guest speaker was Hilary F. Schultz, safety field representative of the State Division of Fire Safety, who spoke of legislation affecting the volunteer fireman.

Town Supervisor A. Michael Schovel, a steady Chief's Night guest offered some humorous remarks.

The Rev. Alvin F. Messersmith, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Camp and company chaplain offered the invocation. A moment of silence was observed for the late Kingston fire chief Joseph L. Murphy.

The new officers and the newly elected chief, John H. Cox Jr. were introduced. Clarence E. Gardner, a lieutenant at the Malden station served as dinner chairman. Philip and Mary Breithaupt prepared the roast beef dinner.

Monday Club Notes

A book review was featured at the February meeting of Saugerties Monday Club held at the home of Mrs. Guy F. Axtell with Mrs. Robert Emery presiding.

After the business meeting the program for the day was given by Mrs. George Kaufman with a most interesting review of the book entitled, "Talk About America" by Alistair Cooke. The next meeting was scheduled for the home of Mrs. David Jones.

Clean Air Meeting

Ulster County Citizens Committee for Clean Air is conducting a forum on the problem of air pollution in the area at a meeting Thursday, 8 p.m. at the American Legion Hall, 30 John Street, Saugerties.

Village and town officials have been invited to attend.

SENIOR PLAY PLOT — Saugerties High School seniors rehearse a tense moment in their portrayal of Arsenic and Old Lace, the senior play presentation scheduled for Friday and Saturday, March 6 and 7 at 8:15 p. m. in the high school auditorium. Tickets are now on sale and may be obtained from any senior, or at the door. Making the scene here are (L-R) Martha Hildebrandt, Holly Breitenbach, Michael Bonavita, Michael Staudacher and Chris Markunas. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Jaycee Officials in Washington

SAUGERTIES Fish's offices in Washington and Kingston assisted in coordinating Leombruno, public relations director for the New York State Jaycees, left today for a two-day conference in Washington with congressmen from New York State.

The purpose of the meetings will be to open lines of communication between the 225 Jaycee locals in the state and the 41 congressmen. Jaycee literature will be distributed and possibly new projects will result.

The planned meetings will be conducted in the Washington, D. C., offices of New York for the Jaycees. It is the opinion of Antalek and Leombruno that elected officials are eager to communicate with local service groups.

"Service groups must stop enjoying the status of silent majority and start acting in a more responsible way. Merely complaining by public demonstration or complaining inwardly and keeping quiet will never solve our problems. If our established organizations do not take responsible action our new generation will never want to join our ranks," they said.

To Observe
10th Birthday

SAUGERTIES Arrangements for the 10th anniversary dinner were outlined by the Women's Guild for Christian Service of Saugerties Reformed Church at a recent meeting held in the Chapel.

Mrs. James Abbott presided at meeting and welcomed all members and guests.

Members were requested to bring clean, used clothing to March meeting for the box to be sent to Anneville.

Plans were made for the 10th birthday of Women's Guild to be held at the March 4 meeting. Covered Dish Supper will be served at 6:30.

Mrs. Richard Wenger, in charge of program, introduced Miss Joyce Finch a missionary home on furlough. Miss Finch who has been serving three years in Zambia, showed slides and gave a very interesting talk of her work and experiences in that country.

Vols Auxiliary
Plans Banquet

CENTERVILLE A tentative date for the annual banquet was set for the recent meeting of Centerville Fire Co. Auxiliary with President Helen Wahbroel presiding.

A tentative date was set for March 24. Further plans will be made at the February meeting.

A nominating committee was appointed including Florence Tompkins, Belle Pender and Ethel Beck.

Pontiac
announces the beginning of tomorrow.

The all-new Firebirds are here.

There are four. Why? People have different ideas of what a sports car should be. Incorporating all of those ideas into one car is equivalent to putting an elephant's trunk, a camel's hump and stripes on a giraffe. You end up with a creature that doesn't do anything well.

So... four Firebirds. Firebird (1). An economical sports car.

Firebird Esprit (2). A luxurious model.

Firebird Formula 400 (3). The Firebird built for drivers.

Firebird Trans Am (4). Our ultimate.

Four distinctly different Firebirds for drivers who agree on only one thing. A sports car.

Comfortable seating for four. Period. Three have always been a crowd. Especially in the back seat of a sports car. So the new Firebirds have two bucket-type seats in back. Plus two bucket seats up front.

Four comfortable passengers, each in an individual seat.

And a more comfortable ride. The rear seats gave us room to raise the drive tunnel between them. Which gives the suspension room to travel when you hit a bump. Which, in the Firebird and Esprit, produces a ride that many a full-size sedan would be proud of.

Formula 400 and Trans Am don't have it quite as soft. Enthusiasts like a stiffer ride. Stiffer springs and shocks provide it.

A ride is nothing without quick handling. We didn't compromise handling a bit. We made the Wide-Track wider. Made fade-resistant front disc brakes standard. And for improved cornering, we installed stabilizer bars up front.

And added rear stabilizer bars to Formula 400 and Trans Am.

Engines to match. If you read our descriptions of the four Firebirds, the engine lineup makes supreme sense. The basic Firebird has a 250-cubic-inch six. Esprit—a 350-cubic-inch, regular-gas V-8.

Formula 400 has a 400-cubic-inch V-8. And Trans Am features a 400-cubic-inch Ram Air V-8.

Endura bumpers that absorb bumps. Pontiac's Endura material is probably the best thing to happen to bumpers since bumpers. It's a resilient, rubber-like material that looks like painted metal. It resists dings, dents and chips. And it positively won't rust.

A tough bumper. Covering the entire front end of each Firebird.

The decisive victory of functionalism over faddism. Instrument panels, for instance. Easy to read. With easy-to-reach controls.

We even designed the panels so that any light bulb can be changed in 60 seconds. By you. Without lying on the floor.

But you'll undoubtedly want to find out for yourself. Please do.

At a Pontiac dealer's. Then you'll know our "beginning of tomorrow" claim is more than a boast.

New, even for Pontiac.

(We take the fun of driving seriously.)

Comstock makes pie filling as if your pie depended on it.

If Comstock Pie Fillings weren't so full of whole cherries and blueberries and healthy chunks of apple, you couldn't really call your pie cherry. Or blueberry. Or apple. If we didn't mix sugar and syrup with a good many spices, your pie wouldn't bake with all those warm flavors and smells. And if we hadn't made those Comstock fillings in the first place, home baked cherry, blueberry and apple pies might be a lost art. You can depend on that.

BORDEN

Wanted by the FBI—Male and Female Clerks, Typists, Stenos

KINGSTON
Immediate openings are available in the New York office and the headquarters of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington, D. C., for male and female clerks, typists, stenographers. The FBI said a promising future in the stimulating field of law enforcement awaits high school graduates interested in sharing the investigative world of the FBI.

The salaries for these positions are $4,360 for clerks; $4,917 for typists and $5,522 for stenographers. There are also positions available in Washington for fingerprint technicians beginning at $4,917 per annum with advancement to $6,882 in two years of employment. In addition, part-time positions as clerks, typists and stenographers can be offered in the New York City office only. The actual tour of duty is flexible and may be designated by those taking the jobs. However, a minimum of 20 work hours per week is required. The hourly pay rates are identical to those of the same full-time positions—clerk $2.10; typist $2.36 and stenographer $2.65. Any high school graduate interested in obtaining an FBI position will be welcome to discuss its benefits with a local agent. Potential applicants should write to the FBI, Box 396, Uptown Post Office, Kingston, or call 338 2292 and a special agent will contact those interested soon after being notified, according to John F. Malone, assistant director in charge of the New York Office.

Ambulance Group Installs Jones as the President

KINGSTON
Officers of the Ulster County Ambulance Association were installed for 1970 at the recent annual banquet held at the Sky-top Restaurant. More than 100 attended the event.

Installed were, Clifton W. Jones, Saugerties Ambulance Service, president; Seymour Pacht, Kerhonkson-Accord First Aid Squad, vice-president; Harriet Weber, Marbletown First Aid Squad, secretary and Gilbert E. Gray, Doctors Ambulance Service, Kingston, treasurer.

Marvin Hornstein, area representative of the New York State Department of Health Emergency Care and Transportation Section, the guest speaker at the dinner, praised the association for its past work in forming the group and combining all types of ambulance service within a county.

Hornstein also praised the group for helping to set up a training program for ambulance personnel at the Ulster County Community College during which more than 150 persons have become medical emergency technicians in Ulster County.

Those who attended the last college training course received their certificates of achievement during the dinner.

Jones spoke on future achievements to be reached in the county regarding ambulance services, the major one being efforts to try to provide a central communication setup for all ambulances within the county, and tying the services by radio to hospitals in the area.

Group Plans On Learning Disabilities

KINGSTON — The Association of Children with Learning Disabilities is planning for a Saturday morning program with qualified teachers, it was announced at a recent meeting of the group held at Edson School library.

The program is expected to benefit the children participating as there will be a special physical exercise program in the gym of the school as well as arts and crafts.

Mrs. Betty Schwab was named co-chairman of membership and Mrs. Dolores Baschnagel was appointed publicity chairman.

Testing Program At Ellenville

ELLENVILLE — A school-wide guidance testing program is being administered this month in grades seven through eleven at Ellenville High School, according to Morris Kaufman, principal.

Pupils in grades seven through ten were given the National Educational Development Tests to show their educational growth and development in school skill areas. Eleventh graders took the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Tests. This is also a test of fundamental educational skill areas — important for assessing students' readiness for higher education and special scholarship programs.

Seventh, ninth and eleventh grades also were given reading tests to measure basic reading skills. Eighth and tenth graders took scholastic aptitude tests. Also, at the eighth grade level, other tests taken included a vocational interest inventory and a series of aptitude tests.

After these are scored, the results will be explained to each student by his guidance counselor.

A special meeting is scheduled Wednesday 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Stanley Davidson for officers and teachers working in the Saturday program.

The regular meeting to which new members are welcome will be held Wednesday, March 11 at 8 p.m. in the Edson School library, Merilina Avenue. Details will be announced on a guest speaker for the meeting.

Mrs. Schwab stressed that the association will be unable to function unless parents whose primary concern to help these children with varied learning disabilities attend.

Confusing Sign

CAMPBELLSVILLE, K.Y. (AP) — A small brass sign on a door at the end of a corridor at the Taylor County Courthouse apparently has been misunderstood.

That sign reads: "Women's Toilet."

Beneath the brass sign hangs a larger sign painted on cardboard: "Ladies Only."

Onteora Board Slates BOCES Topie March 5

BOICEVILLE — The special meeting of Onteora Board of Education announced for Thursday, Feb. 26 has been rescheduled for March 5, at 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria, Boiceville.

Dr. Jack. Roosa, district superintendent of the Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services will present the BOCES story and discuss future plans for expansion. All area residents are invited.

Rainy Problems

LIMA, Peru (AP) — It almost never rains in Lima, and when it does the rainfall is light. Nonetheless, even the slightest downpour almost immediately bottles up automobile traffic. The reason: thieves steal all windshield wipers found on cars, so owners keep them locked up inside the car, where they do no good in a sudden rain.

WOODSTOCK and teacher of outdoor crafts Edmund Quednau was named Woodstock's outstanding citizen recently because of his many years of dedicated service to the boys and young men of the community as scoutmaster of Troop 34, and Mark Grazier was selected as the outstanding teenager on the basis of his scholarship and leadership qualities.

The selections were announced at last week's Woodstock Jaycees awards banquet held at the Chord Lounge, Boiceville. Quednau was selected because in addition he served as guide

"sons," and their outstanding efforts in Scouting, neither he to be a representative of the nor the troop would be receiving the honors that have been coming to them.

Grazier was selected for outstanding teenager award due to his outstanding scholarship and leadership qualities as well as his varied extracurricular activities. Mark is a senior at Onteora Central High School and is a member of the National Honor Society. He has been active in the OCHS Student Council for the past three years and last year was a candidate for President of the council.

Quednau pointed out in his acceptance that had it not been for the boys in Troop 34, whom he likes to refer to as his

Last summer he was selected as a representative of the Woodstock American Legion Post to Boy's State held in Morrisville. He is also a member of the high school symphony and marching bands, the ski and tennis teams. Very active in Scouting, he has been one of the leaders of Troop 34. He is presently a Life Scout and is very near to qualifying for Eagle Scout. Also active in the Overlook United Methodist Church, he served as president of the Senior Christian Fellowship and a member-at-large of the Methodist Sub-District Youth Conference.

Bragg's Life Now Quiet

Badge 27 Wearer Begins Retirement

By SHANE CROSBY

HIGHLAND
Life for Fred Bragg is a great deal more quiet these days than in the past, since he took off his police uniform and put No. 27 police badge on the shelf.

For 33 years he served as constable for the Town of Lloyd and before that he served as a part-time officer for the town on an irregular basis since 1922.

He retired as chief this year at the age of 72.
With police work as an Ulster County deputy sheriff, a Poughkeepsie city policeman, town constable and watchman for a department store in Poughkeepsie, Chief Bragg has been through as much as any policeman can remember from traffic accidents to double murders.

He said the other day that one "code" guided him through his years in uniform: "I'd die in my shoes, to protect life and property." The now retired chief said the "code" is the only way for a policeman to conduct himself.

"Cooperation," he said is the only way for two officers to work with each other, and commented that he and an old friend of his, Ulster County Sheriff William Martin, would pass the "code" to each other when the sheriff was a police sergeant stationed in Highland. "Bill said 'I know you'll never quit me, and you know I'll never quit you,'" said the retired chief of his long-time police associate.

Chief Bragg's number as a deputy sheriff, No. 27, has been his for a good number of years, and perhaps as long as he has been in police work. When he retired he said "I told Bill it's been my number for a long time, and he said you still got it, Fred."

Around the Chief's home in Highland on Old Route 299, the path of the old New Paltz-Highland trolley, the chief displays photographs of his sons, all taken in uniforms of either the U.S. Army or guards.

Two of his three sons are seen in their Army uniforms, Benjamin and George since left the service and both had the distinction of serving as commanders of the Lloyd American Legion Post 193 and later as Ulster County commanders.

A third son, Fred Jr., died in 1962, after he served as a guard at IBM for 20 years, according to his father.

Before joining the town constable force, Chief Bragg served as a watchman in the Poughkeepsie Wallace's store, and before that as a traffic officer for the former Highland-Poughkeepsie Ferry Company. He also worked for the New York, New Haven, and Hartford Railroad during World War I, to add to his long and flavorful career.

Now, says the chief, "I just take it easy." Relaxing at home and "enjoying life," with his family; his wife, Bertha, a daughter Mrs. Bertha DiLorenzo, two sons, 12 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren and friends, Chief Bragg and his wife celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on April 18, 1968, with more than 200 guests attending.

As the chief begins his retirement, he can join with his family and friends, who feel, as Robert Baines of the Highland Central Schools commented of the chief: "You are one of a kind, a kind that helped to make this country great."

Stresses Two Points

Fish Praises Nixon's Budget

POUGHKEEPSIE
"Any government budget is basically 'bad news,' as every taxpayer knows, it is his money being spent," according to Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. commenting this week not only on President Richard Nixon's $200 billion plus budget, but previous budgets.

Stressing two points, Fish said the President has stopped ballooning defense budgets of past years and that the controversy of "defense vs. non-defense" spending by the Federal Government can only be fairly weighed when we remember that state and local taxes don't build aircraft carriers as they do help in supporting almost every non-defense budget item.

Continuing, Fish said "The 1971 defense outlay is set at some $9.5 billion less than President Johnson's request for fiscal year 1970 and $5.4 billion less than currently estimated for defense expenditures for fiscal year 1970. On the other hand, non-defense outlays are up in the Nixon budget by $8.6 billion.

"In looking at these figures, it is clear the Nixon Administration is not increasing defense spending while cutting down on domestic programs," Fish explained.

"In fact," he said, "the exact opposite is true. In making these savings, about 550,000 military personnel and 130,000 civilian defense employees will be dropped during the first two years of the Nixon Administration. In addition, the cut in defense purchases will end an estimated 640,000 defense jobs across the nation. This represents some pretty tough action," he said.

The congressman also added he feels it "interesting to note that defense spending under the proposed new budget will be seven per cent of the gross national product as compared with 13 per cent only a few years ago. In fiscal year 1960 military expenditures represented 49.8 per cent of the federal budget. It is now down 36.7 per cent, the lowest since 1950.

Fish said he believes that "in any discussion of defense versus non-defense spending, one significant fact is sometimes overlooked. This is, that the Federal Government alone is responsible for the defense of our country. It alone maintains the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps.

"On the other hand, in such non-defense expenditures as education and health services, state and local governments as well as the private sector spend billions of dollars. Yet, these expenditures must be recognized and included when we attempt to compare what our country spends for defense and non-defense services.

It is estimated that federal state and local governments plus the private sector spend for health and education $126 billion annually. The 1971 defense budget has been set at $73.5 billion.

Tax Workshop Set

STONE RIDGE
Ulster County Community College will offer a "Tax Workshop for Individuals" on two Monday evenings, March 9 and 16, from 7 to 10 o'clock at its Stone Ridge campus.

Ronald A. Koster, the Director of Continuing Education, announced today.

The non-credit Workshop should appeal to individuals who always have prepared their own Federal and New York State income tax returns as well as those who would like to develop the confidence to prepare their own returns.

The Workshop will be led by William Westerhouse, an assistant professor of accounting at U.C.C.C.

The Workshop, according to Koster, should help to prepare people for the effects of the new tax laws and the new returns. It has been designed to enable persons to analyze the tax reforms and their effect on individual income tax preparation. The major reforms that affect the individual will be highlighted and the use of the new forms will be illustrated in detail.

To help persons to reduce their taxes to the legal minimum, a variety of tax saving ideas will be presented which will benefit the individual taxpayer this year and in succeeding years.

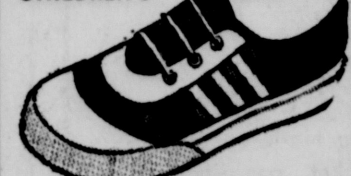

Tax ideas will be presented

Winery Fermented Juice

Sweet Smell of Success in Highland

By SHANE CROSBY

HIGHLAND

The fermented juice of the grape has served for centuries to sooth man's tired nerves and made his food more desirable, but it takes the mind of today to note the fact that wine is a fine diet aid.

"Wine is a skinny drink," says Mark Miller of the Hudson Valley Wine Company in Highland. "Most wines are low calorie drinks, compared to other alcoholic beverages," said Miller this week as he led a tour of his 50-acre "estate" winery along the banks of the Hudson River.

Others are without dates, but his vineyard and wine master carry the marks of time in the wood's surface. They sit in rows in large wine vat rooms in the dark and cold cellar, with their dark quiet resting place disturbed by an occasional wine taster or visitor.

The plant's main operation is conducted by less than 20 persons, including Miller and Sam Williams, who was born on the estate. Admitting that the output of the company is small, about 60,000 gallons a year, Miller said the new owners have no major expansion plans for the estate and would prefer to maintain the "small but quality" tradition. Most of the wine and champagne is sold within the local New York State market, said Miller, who feels the company is not equipped to compete with the nationally distributed wines.

One item Miller said is planned to be added to the line is "Cold Duck," a combination of Champagne and burgundy, that he said is gaining in use by the public at an exceptional rate.

For the general use of the company's product, Miller commented that Americans are beginning to "renew their faith" in wine not only for use on special occasions, but for everyday table use, as well. He contended that the wine and champagne use is expanding throughout the country as a result of the change in American thought about "alcohol and its place." With a slight grin, Miller commented that Americans are learning that it is a better meal when preceded by a small glass of wine. With wine, he said, "you are drawn to the dinner table, you don't stagger."

As director of operations at the company, Miller brings a 20 year interest in wine making and grape growing that includes European work in wine production.

"I started with a hobby and a garden," growing his own grapes and making his own wine, "Soon, I outgrew the garden," he said. "The 'garden' has now flowered into a 350 acre estate that grows its own grapes and makes its own wine," in what Miller calls "an operation you would never expect to see in America."

Crime Control Planning Board Seeks Candidates for Positions

KINGSTON The Mid-Hudson Crime Control Planning Board is seeking candidates for appointment to positions in the board's administrative offices to be located in one of the five counties it serves—Ulster, Dutchess, Sullivan, Orange and Rockland.

According to Albert M. Rosenblatt, board chairman and district attorney of Dutchess County, appointments will be made to the following full and part-time positions: Director, $15,000, full time; assistant director, $6,000, part-time; secretary to the director, full time, $7,000 and secretarial assistant, $2,000, part-time.

Letters of application, including references and resumes should be forwarded to the Personnel Committee, Mid-Hudson Crime Control Board, c/o William Chamuris, probation supervisor, Dutchess County Probation Department, Court House, Poughkeepsie.

Other members of the personnel committee include Kingston Police Chief Francis J. Fagen, Liberty attorney and magistrate, David Cohen; police science professor, Irving Masonson, Orange County Community College and Robert Meehan, district attorney, Rockland County.

The committee has been charged with setting the job requirements and will assist in the selection process.

The director will administer the office and programs of the board, supervise employees of the board, visit appropriate criminal justice agencies to advise and consult with them concerning availability of state funding for crime control programs and assist the board in planning and initiating crime control programs.

He will also evaluate proposals of local agencies, perform research and interpret data for the development of such programs, conduct feasibility studies; prepare reports, handle correspondence and keep appropriate records relating to these activities.

Candidates must have earned a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university and must have had several years of full time paid experience in high level work in the field of criminal justice.

The assistant director will assist the director in all phases of the work to be performed. The part-time work week will consist of 20 working hours. Candidates must have earned a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university

DIRECTOR... VINTAGE COMBINATION
(Freeman photos by Kruh)

With more than 20 years in the winemaking business, Miller serves as director of the winery that recently was bought from the Bolognesi family who operated the small but quality minded estate since 1907.

Few persons were guided through the estate's vineyards and wine cellars before the new owners began to take over the operation about four weeks ago. Miller, saying he is interested in keeping the operation going in the tradition of the old past, hopes to allow the public a view of the historic estate and its production of wine and champagne.

As a visitor enters the estate, the feeling is that of going back into the past, even farther into the past than the dates on some of the 60 or 70 year old buildings tell of. "It's like going from the Hudson Valley to Europe," commented Miller.

A visitor steps even further back into time as he enters the wine cellar, filled with huge kegs that hold anywhere from 250 to 1,200 gallons of the drink associated with "good living."

One oaken keg, filled with about 1,000 gallons of wine, dates back to 1557 and carries an almost life size carving of a European community's patron saint, that Miller thinks might be St. Michael.

FIRST AID FOR FURNITURE

Smoke, steam, house dust, fingerprints, and wax all tend to soil furniture. This is especially true this time of year, says Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist. Often, a thorough cleaning is all that is needed to revive the luster and depth of an oil, sealer, varnish, or lacquer finish.

Shellac finishes are sensitive to water, alcohol, and heat, and may be permanently damaged by cleaning mixtures. To test for a shellac finish, apply a small quantity of alcohol to an inconspicuous place on the furniture (usually on the inside of a leg near the top). If the finish becomes sticky or gummy, or is dissolved, do not use the cleaning solution.

Or finishes other than shellac, good results are obtained by cleaning the surface with the Cleaning Mixture given below.

Keep the mixture warm in a double boiler. Rub the finish with a soft cloth dampened in the mixture; then wipe it dry, and polish it with a dry cloth.

Cleaning Mixture

- 1 quart warm water
- 3 tablespoons boiled linseed oil
- 1 tablespoon turpentine

Leather on tables, chairs, and other furnishings may be renewed and maintained by washing with saddle soap or castile soap and water. Avoid using furniture polishes, oils, and varnishes on leather. These often contain solvents that will make leather sticky.

WASH LEATHER

Dip cloth or sponge in warm water; wring.

Rub cloth over saddle soap or bar of castile soap.

Rub leather briskly.

Rub leather with another warm, moist cloth.

Rub surface with dry cloth

IF LEATHER APPEARS DRIED

Rub small amount of leather dressing into leather to replace oil. You can buy a leather dressing or make one, using ingredients available at your drug store.

FOR LEATHER DRESSING YOU WILL NEED:

60 per cent pure neat's-foot oil (in small container).

40 per cent anhydrous lanolin (in larger container).

To Mix: Warm container of lanolin in hot water until melted. Slowly add neat's-foot oil, stirring until blended.

To Apply: Apply small amount of dressing to leather with fingertips. Rub with your hand until dressing is completely absorbed. Rub tooled areas gently.

You may store dressing indefinitely.

"NIGHT OF FOLK" — The Junior Board of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society of Ulster County will present a "Night of Folk" on Friday, Feb. 27 from 8 to 11 p. m. at Holy Cross Church in Kingston. Officers of the Junior Board include (L-R) Susan Mellander, president; Carlton Ferrono, vice president; Susan Englander, secretary; Debbie Aske, treasurer. Performers will be Steve Courtney, Rick Halterman, Ron Young, Kevin Krapick plus a group consisting of Gary Hudler, Diana Souers, Debbie Wood, Bonnie Bush, and Allen Souers. A nominal admission will be charged. (Kaman photo).

Concert at Vassar Tonight

The Cologne Chamber Orchestra will present a concert at 8:30 o'clock this evening at Skinner Recital Hall, Vassar College, Poughkeepsie.

The 16-member group will perform works by Handel, Haydn, Mozart and Mendelssohn. The orchestra is now on its second tour of this country, having made a successful American debut last year.

Helmut Muller-Bruhl

founded the orchestra in order to hold concerts in the famed Augustusburg-Bruhl Castle, near Cologne, a Baroque structure built between 1725 and 1770.

The orchestra now holds a series of 25 concerts in the castle each season. It performs frequently throughout Europe and has made more than 35 recordings.

The Vassar concert is open to the public at no charge.

Films to Be Shown

Mrs. Mary Ann Hall, preschool chairman of the West Hurley PTA, has announced the showing of two animated color films for preschool children in the West Hurley area. The films will be presented Friday at 10 a.m. at West Hurley School, Building No. 1. There will be a small fee to cover the cost of refreshments.

Receives Cap

Nancy Lew's daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lewis of 65 Finger Street, Saugerties, received her cap at the Capping ceremonies held on February 21 at Albany Law School Auditorium. This signifies the satisfactory completion of the first six months in Albany Medical Center School of Nursing. Her cap was presented to her by Mrs. Helen F. Middleburgh, Director of the School of Nursing. Miss Lewis is a 1969 graduate of LaSalle-Peru Township High School.

Dance Held Recently

The Rondout Pool, Golf and Tennis Association held its first major social event of the year Saturday, Feb. 14 at a Valentine Day dance at the new clubhouse.

More than 130 people enjoyed dancing to the music of the Johnson Fore. A buffet with specialties donated by wives of Association members was served. It is anticipated that the kitchen will soon be in full operation.

Entertainment chairman was Gordon Kreth, assisted by Joanne Kreth, Betty Barrett, Helen Bennett, June Kane, and Richard Neiman.

"AS A CONSTRUCTION CONTRACTOR, I'VE SEEN THEM ALL, AND I LIKE ELECTRIC HEAT."

says Everett Noirot* of Freehold

"After being out in the cold all day, I want to come home to comfort, and that's what I've got with Electric Heat. Another thing, my bills are right in line with the estimates Central Hudson gave me."

Experts, or just plain comfort lovers — over 6,000 of them in Central Hudson territory are satisfied users of the modern heat — electric heat.

To find out about the economy, dependability and comfort of electric heat, call Central Hudson or your local electrical contractor. No obligation, naturally.

*Mr. Noirot has not received nor will he receive any compensation whatever for this testimonial.

I would like information about electric house heating.

Flubs Lines

CAMBRIDGE, England (UPI)—Prince Charles flubbed his line during press rehearsal of a review his college will stage later this year.

"What the hell comes next?" implored the prince as he groped for his lines before reporters Sunday in a rehearsal of "Quiet Flows the Don" at Trinity College.

When he forgot his lines, Charles blushed then "now you can see why we need the dress rehearsal."

Chord Bills Hackett Group

Bobby Hackett Quartet plus Vic Dickenson

BOICEVILLE
The Bobby Hackett Quartet plus Vic Dickenson will appear at the Chord Supper Club, Route 28, Boiceville 5 days through Sunday.

Hackett first came out of New England hailed as the successor to Bix Beiderbecke, the legendary jazz trumpeter of the "Twenties." But Bobby was not really the new Beiderbecke, he was the original Bobby Hackett, a cornetist with a uniquely warm polished tone.

While Hackett was establishing his reputation playing with Glenn Miller, Glen Gray and leading his own jazz groups, Vic Dickenson was making his oddly eccentric trombone style a mixture of slurs, growls and beautiful, full-bodied singing passages, felt in the hands of Claude Hopkins and Count Basie and as part of the Eddie Heywood famous combo.

Hackett also provided the music for the first six hit albums of Jackie Gleason music, that Gleason conducted.

Backing them up are Lou Forestieri, and young pianist with a beautifully knit sense of melody and rhythm: Joe Brancato, a drummer who has grown up in the contemporary big band field and Tito Russo, an Argentine bassist whom Bobby encountered in Puerto Rico.

Curiosity Blamed for Fatal Fire

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Children's curiosity about matches was the apparent cause of a fire that took the lives of a young sister and brother and hospitalized another youngster, fire officials say.

Sylvia Rivera, 3, and her 10-month-old brother, Adrian, perished Tuesday when flames swept their family's second-floor apartment in a frame home north of Rochester's main business district.

Their brother, Robertito, 5, was carried unconscious down a ladder by firemen and was admitted to Strong Memorial Hospital in fair condition with smoke inhalation.

Fire officials said the flames erupted in a closet and spread to the living room, bedroom and attic. Robertito was found in a bedroom closet.

Investigators said it appeared one or more of the children had been playing with matches, adding nothing else could have started the fire.

The children's mother, Digma Rivera, was working in a cafeteria at a school a block away. She collapsed upon seeing Adrian's body removed and was treated for shock.

The father, Adalberto Rivera, a night-shift factory worker, said he left the home to get a haircut 10 minutes before the fire was reported, police said.

Adrian was in a playpen and the older children were watching television when he stepped out, police quoted him as saying.

Maroon Stops Arlington, 57-46, for Sixth Win

By MORT LAFFIN

POUGHKEEPSIE
The Fighting Maroons of Kingston High School, paced by Rocky Johnson's 25 points, gained revenge on the Admirals of Arlington High, 57-46, here Tuesday. Arlington had defeated the visitors, 55-54, earlier this season in Kingston.

Kingston is now 6-11 overall and 4-3 in DUSO League competition. The Maroons face a tough one Friday night when they travel to Newburgh for a game with the league-leading Goldbacks. Newburgh beat Poughkeepsie last night, 76-53.

It was Arlington's last regularly-scheduled game of the season. The Admirals finished at 12-6 and 10-4 in Dutchess County Scholastic League Central Section play, good enough for second place.

Arlington will go into the Section 1 tournament Saturday. Kingston is still waiting for second place in the DUSO to be decided.

Kingston is a game ahead of the Middies, who are 3-4 in the DUSO. They still have one to go against Port Jervis. Should Middletown win, then there would be a tie and a playoff would become necessary (unless Kingston beats NFA).

If Port wins, then they would be in second place, but because they are a Class B school, Kingston would be the number two team to represent Class A in the Section Nine event. Port would play in the Class B tournament.

Johnson turned in his second fine performance in a row, as the Maroons have now won two in succession. The lanky forward took the ball right to the hoop, time and again, faking Arlington Center Bud Rittenger, and anybody else who happened to get in the way.

When he couldn't get the drive, he hit his jump shot from outside the foul circle, keeping the Arlington defense off balance throughout the tilt. Rocky was also outstanding defensively as he blocked shot after shot, pulled down a bunch of rebounds and handed out five assists.

Emilio "Vino" Platts, also did a tremendous job for the winners as he finished with 13 markers. Platts, who is only a sophomore, played an outstanding job defensively, getting his share of rebounds and was the percentage leader as he missed but two attempts from the field.

Arlington took a 13-11 lead at the end of the first period, but relinquished it at 5:30 of the second quarter as Johnson hit a foul shot to give the Maroons an 18-17 lead. They never trailed from that point on and took a 28-25 edge to the lockerroom at halftime.

The difference in the game, besides the offensive display of Johnson and Platts, was the defense that the Kingston quintet showed. Coach Mike Rienzo went strictly man-for-man in this one and the boys responded by holding Arlington's high-scoring duo of Ken Sawyer and Rittenger to 21 points between them.

Arlington tried a zone, but Johnson hit from the outside. The Admirals went man-to-man, but Johnson went inside and Platts peppered the boards from his corner spot and the homeside couldn't recover.

Rienzo was very pleased with his team's performance. "Johnson and Platts had good games for us," said the winning mentor. "But the defense is what I am pleased with. We played them man-to-man this time and it worked, where our zone didn't the first time. Again, we kept our turnovers to a minimum and only threw away four passes the whole ball game. When you do that, you can stay in there with anybody," he concluded.

Coleman Tops Onteora in Finale, 61-55

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON
The Statesmen of John A. Coleman High School ended their regular-season on a winning note last night as they topped the visiting Indians of Onteora, 61-55. Coleman is now 12-6 and will be looking for a tournament bid. The Indians are 11-7, will go to the Sectionals and have the team's leading rebounders, one game remaining with Pine and scorers, wouldn't be able to suit up because of an ankle injury that he received in last week's donkeybrook with Highland.

He was replaced by Bill Onteora's big men, Dave Smith, Curran, and, in all fairness to Ed Mercer and Brad Robbins, denied as they came out strong

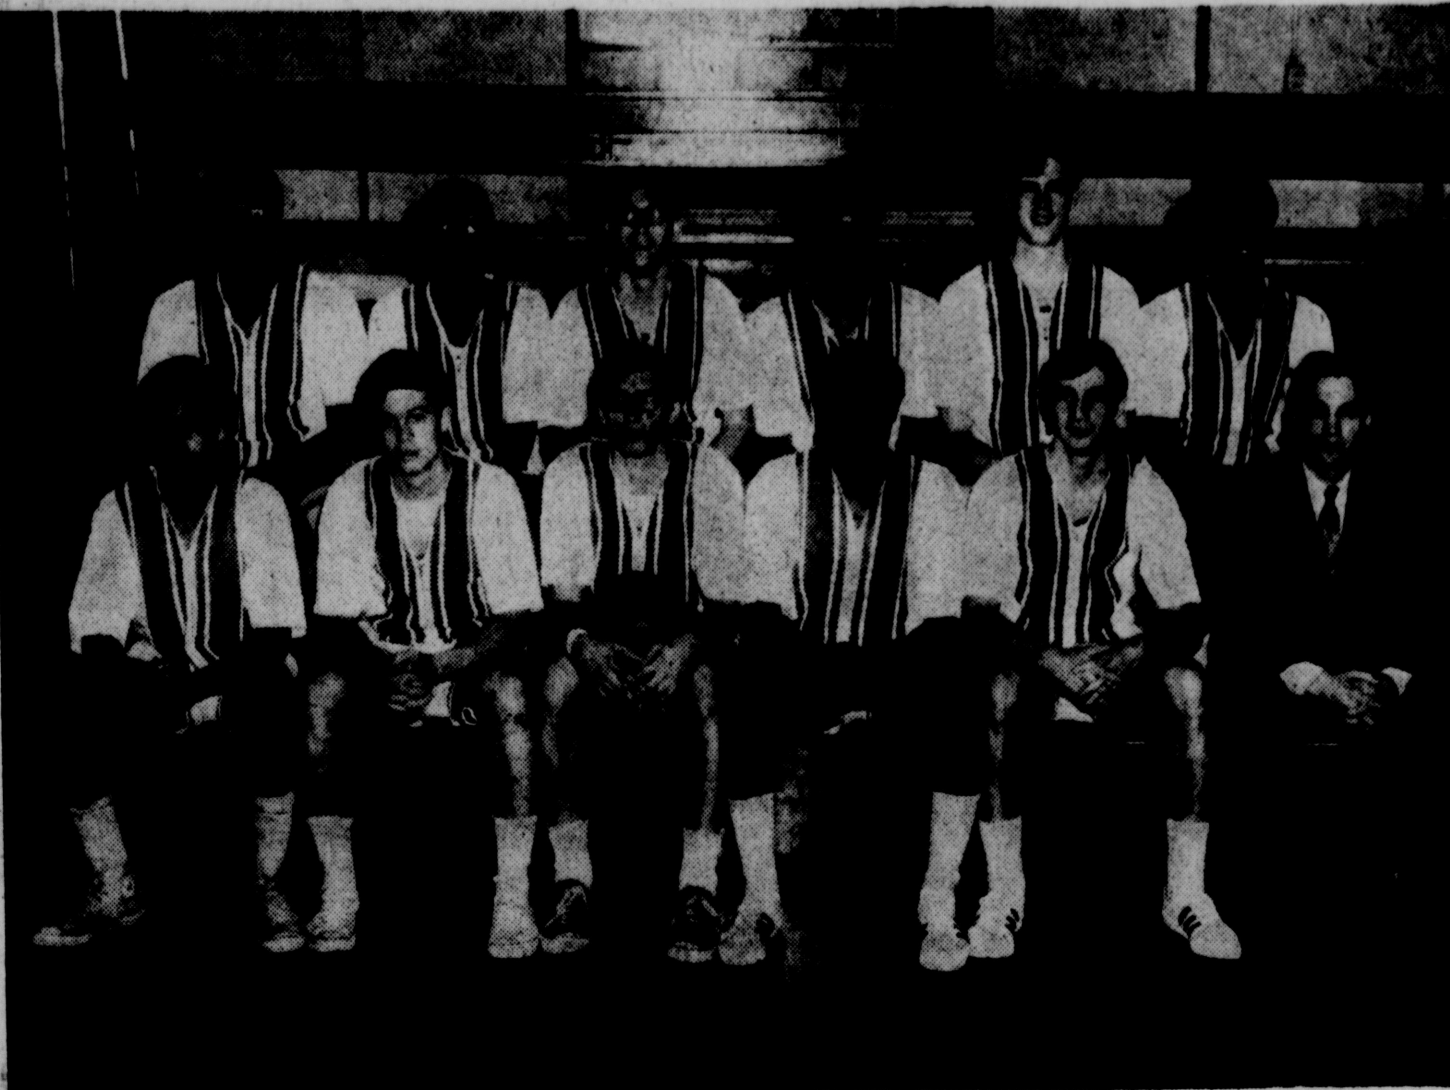

Renn, if he was missed, it kept the pressure on with the "Game of the Year." Curran controlled the boards, consistently from better than 20 feet out, brought the losers period. Joe Bush, who hit and between the games, flowers were presented to the mothers, coaches' wives and school principal by the members of the Varsity and JVs, in a very impressive ceremony.

Marquette Spurs NCAA In Dispute Over Region

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The 10 at-large bids for the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball championship went out. Nine were promptly gobbled up while Marquette passed.

Coach Al McGuire of Marquette spurned the NCAA's bid Tuesday and said instead his eighth-ranked Warriors would go to the National Invitation Tournament in New York.

"I am very disappointed," McGuire said. "Our heart was set on going to the NCAA."

McGuire said the NCAA's decision to place Marquette in the Midwest Regional instead of the Mid-East was the basic factor in rejecting the bid.

Marquette, with an 19-3 record, was replaced by unranked Dayton, 17-7, while the Mid-east spots went to No. 6 Jacksonville, 21-1, and No. 13 Notre Dame, 20-5.

The other teams chosen were: No. 3 St. Bonaventure, 19-1, No. 5 New Mexico State, 21-2, No. 15 of Pennsylvania; St. Bonaventure vs. Southern Conference

18-5, Villanova, 17-6, Niagara, winner at St. John's, N.Y., and 19-4, and Long Beach State, 21-3, Niagara vs. Ivy League champion at Princeton.

The 10 at-large teams will join 15 conference champions, Kentucky, the top-ranked team in the latest Associated Press poll, already has qualified by winning the Southeastern Conference as has Western Kentucky, Ohio Valley Conference winners.

The NIT will invite 16 teams for its tourney, March 13-21. The NCAA competition will be held on three straight weekends.

March 7, March 12-14 and March 19-21 with the finals at College Park, Md.

Defending NCAA champion UCLA, 21-1, ranked second after suffering its first defeat Saturday, has a two-game lead with four remaining and seems virtually certain of winning the Pacific-8 title and go for its fourth straight NCAA title.

First-round pairings in the East on March 7 will pit Villanova vs. Middle Atlantic Conference champion at the University of Pennsylvania; St. Bonaventure vs. Southern Conference

Roosevelt Winner

RHINEBECK
Wayne Boone hit on a 20-foot jump shot with four seconds showing on the clock to give the visiting Presidents of Roosevelt a 58-57 win over the Cadets of Cardinal Farley, last night. Joe Coston paced the winners with 22 points, while Scott Alexander had 17 for the homeside.

Farley held a 55-53 lead with 30 seconds left when Coston drew a foul. The big center went to the line and made both ends of the one-and-one to tie the game. The Cadets moved deliberately down court, working the ball into the corner where John Gereeran hit a jumper to make it 57-55 favor of CFMA with 14 seconds showing.

Again Coston was fouled and he made the first shot, 57-56, left and let it fly. The ball hit the back of the rim and car-dets came back down the floor and took an off-balance shot with 20 feet away. The ball seemed to just brush his hands as he put it right back up and through on a swisher. Farley couldn't get the ball over halfcourt and time ran

Big Joe, 30 feet from the basket, looked at the clock, saw out.

Knicks Magic Digit Now Down to Eight

By United Press International
The New York Knicks really know how to hurt a guy.

Connie Hawkins, who learned his basketball on the playgrounds of New York, returned to play before his hometown fans and the Knicks played the role of an unopposable host as they downed Hawkins and his Phoenix Suns teammates 121-105.

The victory, coupled with Detroit's 136-111 conquest of Milwaukee, reduced the Knicks' magic number to eight in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division race. Any combination of Knicks wins and Milwaukee losses totaling eight will give the New Yorkers the division title.

Atlanta, flexing its muscles for the post-season playoffs, built a three-game bulge in the Western Division race by downing the injury-plagued Los Angeles Lakers, 118-106.

Seattle stopped San Francisco, 130-122 for the Supersonics' second win in three days over the Warriors.

The Knicks, who lead the Eastern race by 6 1/2 games got 28 points from Dick Barnett in snapping a two-game losing streak. The triumph was New York's sixth straight over Phoenix this season and 10th in a row over a two-year span. Hawkins led the losers with 26 points.

Joe Caldwell poured in 8 points in Atlanta's win over Los Angeles as the Lakers played without NBA scoring leader Jerry West for the second straight game. Happy Hairston led the game. Happy Hairston he too reentered his left shoulder with five seconds remaining in the game.

Earl Monroe and Jack Marin both scored 29 points as Baltimore continued its domination over San Diego. The triumph was the Bullets' eighth straight over the Rockets and 18th in 19 outings over a three-year span.

Bob Rule got 29 points as Seattle held off the Warriors and Jimmy Walker, with 30 points, led a fourth-quarter outburst that carried Detroit past Milwaukee.

Ellenville Jolts Middletown, 60-52

ELLENVILLE High School's cagers made good use of four technical fouls called against Middletown, three in the fourth period on one play, to edge the visiting Middies Tuesday night, 60-52. The Ellies are 7-9 on the year.

The first technical came in the first 14 seconds of the tilt as Gary Klingman stepped to the line. The Ellenville scorer called the officials over and told them that Klingman had neglected, or the Middie's scorer had neglected to put him in the tilt, so the "T."

The three-in-one came in the final period when Steve Berkman of Middletown was called for fighting. He was ejected.

Kilmer devastated the visitors' defense as he fired in 29 points to pace the attack. Harold Dedrick hit for 15 and Pete Collins added 11 for the winners.

Kilmer hit from all over the floor and sparked a 29-point fourth quarter to provide the margin of victory.

Dan O'Byrne and Brad Hart had 12 points apiece and Ray Zappone added 10 for the choice words for the refs. They called the second one on him at that point and the third came against Coach Jim Brownley, who went on the floor to argue the calls on behalf of his departed player.

Ray's Capture YMCA Title

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

KINGSTON A fired up Blue Gardenia team scared the wits out of undefeated Ray Chevrolet for one half of the "big game" Tuesday night at that early 20th century basketball setting known as the YMCA court.

But in the end the superior shooting power of the Chevrolet asserted itself and Ray's romped to a 91-75 victory for their second consecutive Y league title. The victory earned Ray's the right to meet the famed Harlem Wizards March 14 at the municipal auditorium.

It was the 28th consecutive win for Coach Jim Massa's squad on the Y boards. They reeled off 17 straight wins in sweeping the 1968-69 regular league and 1969 fall circuit, then closed out this campaign with a 11-0 rating.

33-33 at the Half
Coach Al Cook's Gardenias played the stone-cold Chevies to a 33-33 standstill in the first half but blew their chance to pile up a big early lead by yielding too many turnovers.

Rod Chando, who was limited to three points and Ron Thomas, who led the winners with 28 points, triggered the 36-point third quarter explosion that nailed down the win for Ray's. The score had been tied six times in the first half, the last at 33-33 to end the half.

Chando Open Fire
Chando opened the second half with a deuce. After Jon Ricks, game leader with 30 points, converted a free throw, Ray's ran off 12 straight points to forge ahead 47-34 before Dane Meeks (24 points) broke up the spurt. Chando collected 13 of his 16 points in that period and Ray's went into the fourth quarter leading 69-44 and that was the game for all intents and purposes. Ray's man to man press was too much for Gardenias.

Ken's Mod Locks Rattle Dark

By United Press International

Ken Harrelson, the long-haired mod man of the Cleveland Indians discovered Tuesday that .221-hitters don't talk back to Manager Alvin Dark.

Harrelson, who hit 30 homers and drove in 92 runs last season, arrived at the Indians' spring training site in Tucson, Ariz., in sartorial splendor. In addition to being decked out in purple bellbottoms, shoes and sunglasses, Harrelson wore shoulder-length hair. It was the latter which made Dark see purple.

Harrelson at first refused an order to have his curly locks shorn but gave it a second thought when Dark mentioned the possibility of a four-figure fine.

That sent Harrelson speeding off in a car to a hair stylist.

where the required cutting was done for a mere $10. Back speed Harrelson to the playing field where Dark okayed Ken's "new look" and then permitted him to take part, along with about 50 other players, in the club's daily three-mile run.

Infielder Vern Fuller, the first Indian to run the three miles in Dark's prescribed time of 21 minutes, wasn't on hand for the festivities. He was unable to walk because of bone bruises on his feet.

Ron Swoboda remained the world champion New York Mets' unsigned player when first baseman-outfielder Ed Kranepool agreed to an estimated $40,000. Kranepool batted .238 with 49 runs batted in and 11 homers in 1969.

Reggie Jackson, who hit 47 homers for the Oakland Athletics last season, said in Scottsdale, Ariz., that he is prepared for a long holdout. Jackson and the Athletics are reportedly far apart with the player asking $75,000 and the club offering $40,000.

On other fronts: Manager Mayo Smith of the Detroit Tigers said that veteran Al Kaline will play this year at both first base and in right field. Willie Mays reported at Casa Grande, Ariz., bringing the San Francisco Giants' roster to all present and accounted for... Horace Clarke, Dodgers.

Catcher Jerry May of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who suffered an arm injury in a freak accident last July, said he was pleased with "his early efforts 'to throw hard'." Outfielder Ed Stroud signed, leaving homer-hitting Frank Howard as the Washington Senators' only unsigned player. No progress negotiations with pitchers Bill Singer and Don Sutton, both first base and in right field. Willie Mays reported at Casa Grande, Ariz., bringing the San Francisco Giants' roster to all present and accounted for... Horace Clarke, Dodgers.

Larry Petersen Solid '200' Average Bowler

KINGSTON — Larry Petersen, Jr., who joins his late father, Larry Petersen, in the Kingston Bowling Association Hall of Fame on March 21, has been a 190 or better average bowler every year since 1954.

On at least a dozen occasions not counting the 1969-70 season, Petersen has soared over the 200-average mark.

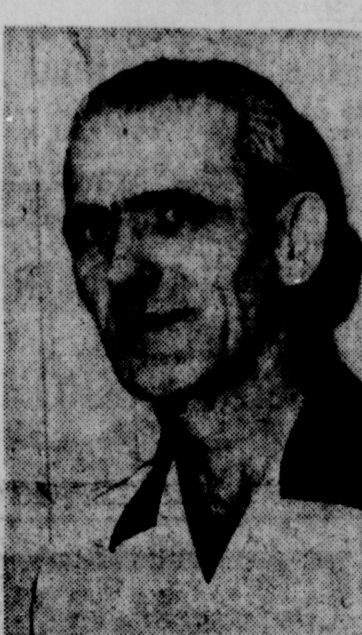

He is the current seasonal scoring leader with a 742 series and has another of 720.

Petersen rolled one 300 score in open bowling and has ABC-sanctioned career highs of 290 and the 742 of this season. He estimates he has compiled between 30 and 35 career 700 series.

Many Doubles Titles

Petersen has accounted for numerous individual and doubles titles. He teamed with Chris Gallo to win the KBA doubles in 1964 and 1965, the Newburgh City Doubles with his brother, with 1317 of which he contributed 288-724 and the New York State Doubles championship with his brother, Herb, in 1966. He teamed with Buster Ferraro for 6th in the American Bowling Congress doubles in 1962, highest finish ever by an area tandem.

The building contractor also

picked up titles during his two stints in World War II and the Korean conflict. He won the 17th Naval District singles and doubles in 1952, the same year he led the Alaskan Command team champions.

Larry won second place in the famed Landgraf Singles Classic in New York; made the National All Star eliminations several times and the News Day Eastern Open finals on Long Island. He has been a member of innumerable local league championship squads.

He bowled with the Jones Dairy squad of Kingston which captured the All-Events Team Title, which included a 1777 team single, third highest in ABC history, and placed fifth in the nationals.

Several Championships

Petersen was also with championship teams in tournaments at Dover Plains, Ramapo Valley, Dutchess Rec, Rip Van Winkle, Colonial City and Liberty Lions Club. He also rolled with the Jones Dairy squad that set the all-time record for average in the Hudson Valley League.

The veteran ace appeared with more local league championship teams than he can remember. He is a member of the distinguished Petersen bowling family, which has another member, Herb, waiting in the wings.

Other Hall of Fame inductees on March 21 include Larry Petersen, Buster Ferraro, Dick Howard and the late John Sangi (posthumously).

The dinner is open to the public and tickets may be purchased from any member of the KBS executive committee.

Quinnipiac Nips Hawks

HAMDEN, Conn. — Quinnipiac had to fight for their life to stave off an inspired New Paltz State University basketball team, 83-80, here Tuesday night.

With 12 seconds remaining, the New York Staters trailed 82-80 and had a chance to tie it, but a bad downcourt pass killed their hopes.

Quinnipiac, 17-4 on the season and barely nosed out by Boston State College for an NAJA tournament berth, got the shock treatment early and trailed the Hawks until they tied the score at 76-76 late in the second half.

"The boys were magnificent even though we lost," said an excited Coach Doug Sheppard. "I might even say this was the finest game any team ever played for me since I became coach at New Paltz.

Garafalo Sensational Sheppard had enthusiastic praise for Sam Garafalo, who broke loose with 31 points to lead the Hawks to a 47-43 halftime lead. The 31 points were, of course, a career record for the Albanian at the New Paltz school.

"Sam was absolutely great," said Sheppard. "The whole team performed like it never had before. I'm certainly proud of them."

The defeat was the 13th in a row for the Hawks, but the brilliant showing against the tough Quinnipiac squad put the New Yorkers in a more positive frame of mind for Friday and Saturday games with St. John Fisher of Rochester and New York State Maritime at New Paltz.

Hit 52 Per Cent

New Paltz hit 52 per cent of its shots (31 for 59) and was 18 for 22 from the free throw line. Coach Sheppard used only six players four were in double figures. Jim Leonardo potted 19, Steve Fuller 11 and Oscar Kvelland 13.

Len McDowell led Quinnipiac with 25 and Bill Shortell dunked 20.

Johnson Sets Mark

(By Associated Press)

Pistol Pete Maravich of Louisiana State, Dan Issel of Kentucky, Austin Carr of Notre Dame have nothing on John Johnson of Iowa when it comes to individual high scoring games in college basketball.

Johnson threw in 49 points, an all-time Iowa school record, in leading Hawkeyes to their 13th straight victory, 116-97 over Northwestern at Iowa City Tuesday night.

This was short of the recent 64, 54 and 55 efforts of Maravich, Issel and Carr, but Johnson probably could have scored more if he hadn't been taken out with 6:28 left to play. At the time he had 47 points.

"We want Johnson, we want Johnson," the crowd chanted. Ralph Miller, Iowa coach, put Johnson back into the game with 3:45 to go. He scored another basket before fouling out with 1:44 left.

"I was happy for John because it was his own record of 46 that he broke, but the victory came first," Miller said later. The victory kept the ninth-ranked Hawkeyes unbeaten at 11-0 in the Big Ten Conference and set up Saturday's big road game against runnerup Purdue.

The Boilermakers, two games back at 9-2 with three to play, kept their hopes alive with a 108-94 victory over Minnesota at Minneapolis.

Rick Mount scored 42 points for Purdue, 39 in the second half. Mount broke the game open in the second half with a steal and layup after the Go-phers had pulled within 55-51.

"I don't know if we can catch them, but I think we can beat Iowa at home Saturday," commented George King, the Purdue coach, afterwards.

Jacksonville, sixth-ranked in The Associated Press poll, barely averted defeat at the hands of Oklahoma City after accepting a bid to the NCAA post-season tourney.

The Dolphins pulled out a 77-75 home court victory on Vaughn Wedeking's jumper with just four seconds left. The Chiefs had tied the score at 75-75 on Charles Wallace's basket with 45 seconds to go.

Cincinnati and Texas Tech tightened the Missouri Valley and Southwest Conference races by whipping Drake, 88-72, and Rice 78-77, respectively.

Cincinnati's victory, the 11th in a row for the Bearcats, pulled them within one game of first place Drake and created the possibility of a triple tie in the MVC if Louisville defeats Drake on Saturday.

Rice's defeat kept the Owls from clinching at least a tie for the SWC crown and cut their lead over Texas Tech and Texas A&M to one game.

Villanova, NCAA-bound, walloped Toledo 107-82 while St. John's of New York humbled Holy Cross 75-62 in a battle of NIT-hopefuls.

Indiana whipped Michigan 102-93, Illinois defeated Michigan State 74-67, Texas A&M overcame Arkansas 72-60. Texas downed Baylor 81-70 and Georgetown, D.C., routed Fairfield 95-70.

Rutgers pulled out a 90-84 overtime victory over Connecticut on Bob Wenzel's two free throws with one second left in regulation time and his two crucial baskets in the extra period.

Ohio State took Wisconsin 98-86 and Texas Christian tripped Southern Methodist 102-95 in other games.

Rhinebeck Loses To Millbrook

Mike Eades, Millbrook High School's answer to Pete Maravich, fired in 32 points, 16 in the third period to lead his team to a 65-41 victory over host Rhinebeck last night. Millbrook finished the season at 15-3 and will appear in the Sectionals.

Rhinebeck is 9-8 on the year and will go against Tuckahoe at Roy C. Ketcham High, 2:30 p.m. Saturday in the Sectional qualifying round.

The winners' defense was particularly outstanding as no Rhinebeck cager could hit for double figures. Guy Farrington added 14 points in support of Eades for Millbrook.

Man Charged With Murder In Boy's Death

ASHLAND, Pa. (UPI)—State police said today they have arrested on charges of murder a man they said beat his girlfriend's young son to death and hid the body four months ago in an abandoned coal mine.

Russell Snyder, 28, of Ashland, was arrested late Tuesday night while he hid in a closet of his home. Police said the body of Ronald McCorkle, 2, of Phoenixville had been recovered a short time earlier from the mine on Merriam Mountain, two miles west of here.

The child's mother, Mrs. Gloria McCorkle, 20, who moved here recently from Phoenixville following a divorce, was held as a material witness.

State Police Detective George Durilla said Mrs. McCorkle and her father, Fred Wallace of Phoenixville, reported the death to Phoenixville police Sunday. They told the police the child was beaten to death in October in Ashland, Durilla said.

State police and inspectors from the state Department of Mines and Mineral Industries led a search of abandoned strip mines west of here Monday and Tuesday.

The found the body wrapped in a blanket and a sleeper bag. The body was taken to Ashland State Hospital for an autopsy.

An hour after the body was found, state police with a murder warrant surrounded Snyder's house and searched it with flashlights. They found him hiding in a closet.

'Four-In-One' Next on NBC

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC's "Four-In-One" for next season is a further dimension of a programming concept that began with "Name of the Game" and "The Bold Ones." The latter shows combined three series that alternate on succeeding weeks in the same time period. "Four-In-One" will offer four separate series, but in this case each segment will run for six straight episodes. Then there will be a special and it will go onto another six episodes of a different story. This one-hour series of series will fill a 10 p.m. Wednesday slot to be vacated by "Then Came Spring." The concept came into being a few years ago when NBC searched for alternatives to series television. At that time, Mort Werner, network programming vice president, wanted to try out a show called "Limited Engagement." "We want to do as they do in England," Werner said. "They run a series for eight to ten weeks, then it's nice you were here but goodbye." The idea does sound intriguing. Too many shaky story ideas have been stretched too thinly over a 26-week season. The series format itself can be too confining and every break with it is welcome. The four shows will be selected from among World Premiere movies produced by Universal Studios. They are "Night Gallery," "District Attorney," "McCloud," "Fear No Evil," "Man of Destiny," "Drive Hard, Drive Fast," "The Psychiatrist," and "San Francisco International." "Fear No Evil" will be shown March 21 and the last three are still in production. The others already have been aired. Another innovation in the works is the novel for television, Fletcher Knebel's "Vanished" has been written as a screen play in five one-hour episodes. Production has not yet begun, and NBC is uncertain how it will be presented. If it is successful, other books will be adapted.

There is still plenty of pulling power left in series however. Outside of a Charlie Brown special and an Andy Griffith movie, the veteran series dominated the ratings for the week of Feb. 9-15 and put CBS back in first place. The Charlie Brown special came in first but "Gunsmoke" was second and "Bonanza" was right behind. The Griffith movie, "Angel in My Pocket," was fourth. Next came "Mayberry RFD," "Laugh-In," "Family Affair," "Lucille Ball," Red Skelton, and Ed Sullivan. "Movin'," a special on CBS Tuesday night, obviously was designed to get the whole family together in front of the TV set. If everyone didn't find at least one song to their liking, it was not the fault of the producer.

In the code word ARCH the letter A stands for Analyze the lead, R for Review the bidding, C for Count your winners and losers, and H for How can I make this hand or How can I defeat this hand, depending on whether you are declarer or a defender.

East's king of diamonds held the first trick. It behooved him to use that code word, but East saw no reason to do anything except play a second diamond. He expected South to ruff it but saw no harm in letting him. South showed him the error of his ways very quickly—by doing exactly that—ruffing the diamond. At trick three, he led a spade to dummy's king. Then he ruffed dummy's last diamond with his ace of trumps. He then cashed the trump king, overtook the jack with dummy's queen, played out dummy's last two clubs to draw the remaining trumps and to discard two hearts from his own hand. He made four more tricks with his last spades.

If East had stopped to review the bidding, he might have foreseen this exact outcome. South had bid right along to game after his partner's no-trump response. Certainly South held just one diamond for all that bidding. Then West had given a diamond raise. West couldn't hold anything—much in the black suits. He just might hold the ace of hearts.

After that well-organized bit of thinking, it wouldn't be at all unreasonable for East to lead a heart. West would take his ace and have no trouble finding the heart return.

Of course, no guarantee would go with that heart play. We can work out some card combinations where the diamond continuation would work out better, but as we have been saying for years, "Contract bridge play will never be an exact science."

B52s Continue Raids On Laos Supplies

SAIGON (UPI) — American B52s again flew raids into Laos Tuesday night and today to bomb what official sources said was the heaviest stream of North Vietnamese war supplies moving south since the start of the Vietnam War.

The U.S. Command diverted the bombers to Laos from Vietnam for the fifth time in a little more than a week. Despite the U.S. raids in Laos, North Vietnamese troops seized the Plain of Jars Saturday and the town of Muong Soui Tuesday.

Meanwhile, the U.S. turned over one of its biggest bases to the South Vietnamese army today as part of President Nixon's third phase withdrawal of 50,000 more troops from the war zone.

U.S. generals in formal ceremonies transferred the headquarters of the 18,000-man U.S. 1st Infantry Division at Lai Khe to the Saigon government.

The 1st Division, known as the Big Red One, is the largest unit among those to be withdrawn by April 15 in the latest phase of the Vietnamization program.

The flood of trucks and other vehicles hauling in war supplies on the Ho Chi Minh Trail being surpassed even the period just before the 1968 Tet offensive. The sources said the increased traffic began in November.

Battle action in Vietnam was at its lowest point since October.

Communiques reported four scattered clashes involving American troops Tuesday. The Americans killed 16 guerrillas at a cost of five U.S. troops wounded.

Another guerrilla arms cache was unearthed Tuesday 275 miles northeast of Saigon by troops of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division. It was found near An Khe where American troops found seven tons of arms and ammunition a day earlier.

Other 4th Infantry Division troops found nearly eight tons of food hidden by guerrillas 285 miles northeast of Saigon, spokesmen said.

The command saw the hidden arms and food as new evidence that North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops are getting ready for a spring offensive that may start next week. But official sources said Tuesday the guerrillas may lack the manpower to launch a sustained offensive at least for the time

In Laos, meanwhile, U.S. authorities detained three newsmen overnight at a base north of Vientiane after the men tried to reach an "off limits" outpost dominated by American military advisers.

The newsmen were on a field tour being conducted by the U.S. Embassy Tuesday when they left the group at San Thong, 60 miles north of Vientiane, and attempted to hitchhike to Long Tiane, 20 miles away.

The embassy set up the trip for newsmen who had protested the government's reluctance to let them report the Plain of Jars fighting first-hand. The trip was to include a flight over the plain, but was abruptly called off when the three newsmen turned up missing.

American authorities launched an immediate search for the newsmen, picked them up hours later before they had reached Long Tiane, and kept them overnight at San Thong, in custody of an embassy official.

The three—Timothy D. Allman, a freelance correspondent, Max Coffait of Agence France Presse and John Saar of Life magazine—were flown back to Vientiane today.

"The American Mission has lost any interest in helping out the press whatsoever because of what happened this afternoon," U.S. Ambassador G. McMurthrie Godley said through a spokesman.

May Include Major Bases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The upcoming massive reductions of additional U.S. military bases indicated by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird is in keeping with reduction of American armed forces as Pentagon sources say involvement in Vietnam tapers off.

Laird said Tuesday the reduction would involve "well over 10 bases." Other Defense Department officials said the cutback could affect as many as several hundred bases, some of which may be closed outright.

"The Pentagon move, which Laird said would be spelled out in detail within a month, comes on top of reductions or closings at 307 bases in the United States and abroad announced as an economy measure last October.

The defense chief made the remark in passing during a briefing with newsmen on the Nixon administration's plan for expansion of the Safeguard anti-ballistic missile system. He did not elaborate.

Pentagon sources indicated the latest purge of facilities may involve some major installations, including Naval shipyards.

The cutbacks announced in October involved bases in 42 states, Puerto Rico and a number of undisclosed foreign countries. The Pentagon said that dismantling would save $609 million a year.

Since President Nixon took office Jan. 20, 1969, the Army, Navy and Air Force have announced plans to eliminate some 76,700 civilian jobs in the services. In addition, a 550,000-man cutback in military personnel from the Vietnam war peak is expected to be completed by June 30, 1971.

New Dixie Strategy On Vote Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key Southern senators appear maneuvering to get the administration's nationwide voting rights bill before the Senate rather than a proposed extension of a 1965 act aimed solely at the South.

This strategy began emerging as the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on constitutional rights continued hearings today on voting rights in the face of a fast-approaching March 1 deadline for action.

Southern senators strongly oppose extension of the 1965 Voting Rights Act and prefer the administration measure if Congress is going to pass any legislation at all in the field.

Last December, after the House adopted the administration's bill by a five-vote margin, the Senate sent the legislation to its Judiciary Committee with instructions that it report back by March 1.

Committee members supporting pleas of civil rights leaders for a measure extending the 1965 law for five years hoped to substitute it for the House-passed administration bill.

But Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., chairman of the constitutional rights subcommittee, said there will be no time for committee action before the deadline.

He said this would make the administration bill the pending business in the Senate.

At a hearing before Ervin's subcommittee Tuesday, Sen.

Birch Bayh, D-Ind., clashed verbally with Georgia Gov. Lester G. Maddox over extension of the act. Maddox said the present law treats Southern states like conquered provinces.

And Ervin said the deadline imposed on the committee makes a c s of discrimination against him as chairman.

The 1965 act suspended use of voter literacy tests and authorized federal examiners to register voters in six Southern states and parts of a seventh. It also required voting law changes in these states to be approved in advance by the U.S. Attorney General.

In contrast, the measure urged by President Nixon would ban literacy tests in all states and permit the use of federal examiners and election observers anywhere in the country to protect voting rights.

Cairo Paper Points a Finger

By United Press International
A Cairo newspaper said today Israeli agents might have been behind two in-flight explosions that have promoted suspicion of Arab sabotage.

One of the explosions caused a Tel Aviv-bound Swissair plane to crash, killing all 47 persons aboard, and the other blew a hole in the underbelly of an Austrian plane that landed safely.

The newspaper Al Gomhouria said Israel's prime minister, Golda Meir, has threatened to take reprisals against Arab civil aviation. This threat is enough to shed light on the regrettable Swiss air disaster because it "invites us to look for Zionist fingers behind the mishap."

"The gangster killers of Tel Aviv who have escalated their aggressions against Arab civilians would not hesitate—and their criminal record would support that—to commit this crime in order to trigger action against Arab civil aviation."

In developments in the Middle East crisis:

—President Tito of Yugoslavia wound up two days of meetings with President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt, but there was no word whether Tito relayed a request from Secretary of State William P. Rogers for the Egyptians to take steps to cool down the Arab-Israeli crisis.

—Israeli troops hunting Arab guerrillas who killed an American woman Tuesday shot and killed an Arab who fled when challenged in the hilly region near Hebron.

Briefing
The Administration asked a sharply divided Congress Tuesday for money to thicken its planned shield against Soviet nuclear strike by adding a new Anti-Ballistic Missile installation—at Whiteman Air Force Base, Mo. Here, at a Pentagon press conference, Defense Secretary Laird briefs newsmen. In background are a map of present and proposed missile sites in the U. S. (right), and a chart estimating "The Threat" from the Chinese and the Soviets (left). Seated at left is Secretary of the Army Stanley Resor. (UPI TELEPHOTO)
